

During the Holiday Season

Be Extra Smart, Be Extra Thankful!

Thera Martin-Milling

Allegheny West Foundation

The Holiday Season is in full swing and what comes to mind are a few critical things: For all the small business owners, non-profit organizations and area residents who contributed to the Thanksgiving Food Basket give-aways sponsored by the Allegheny West Foundation Neighborhood Action Committee, AWF thank you for assisting low-income neighbors in our area. Keisha Garner, the AWF/NAC Manager, worked tirelessly with two volunteers to ensure that 200 families got a turkey and all the trimmings to go with it, for Thanksgiving 2014. Above and beyond that, Ronald E. Hinton, Jr.,

President of the Allegheny West Foundation commented, "At the AWF/TastyKake Thrift Store Outlet at 2236 W. Hunting Parking Avenue, in addition to what our AWF/NAC did, we also gave away Turkey Baskets to 35 families who live in the heart of the Allegheny West community of North Philadelphia. Also keeping in the spirit of the Thanksgiving Holiday, Keisha Garner hosted a Pre-Thanksgiving Day Dinner treat for a group of some 15 youth who are now a part of a new afterschool program at Panati Recreation Center. The children were treated to a full dinner meal and dessert. Many thanks to all who thought it not robbery to make a donation to help support the cause.

While being thankful, we also need to be extra safety-smart during the holiday season. Scam artists are out there and so are thieves. When you go shopping, be it on North 22nd Street,

Thankful! on page 17

Sen. Kitchen's Partners with PHAN

Offering Constituents Assistance in Enrolling for Health Coverage

Kentia Waters

State Senator Kitchen's office

Philadelphians who need help navigating the healthcare marketplace, or help with applying for Medical Assistance can get free, impartial assistance in Senator Kitchen's District Office.

The Pennsylvania Health Access Network (PHAN) will assist Third District constituents in enrolling for healthcare coverage, whether it's an affordable insurance plan on the Healthcare Marketplace, or Medicaid through PA's Medicaid Expansion: Healthy PA.

PHAN will take appointments in Kitchen's District Office, located at 1701 W. Lehigh Ave., Suite 104, every Monday, from 9:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m., starting Dec. 22. Constituents must call (877) 570-3642 to make an appointment. No walk-ins will be accepted.

PHAN is a statewide coalition of organizations working to protect high-quality health insurance coverage for individuals and businesses and to expand coverage to the uninsured."

"Medicaid and the Affordable Care Act are the keys to giving people peace of mind," Sen. Kitchen said. "But opening the door to either coverage opportunity isn't always easy. Offering assistance directly in my office will help Philadelphians confidently choose plans on the marketplace they can afford, or see if they qualify for free healthcare via Healthy PA."

Residents who are not enrolled in a health care plan by Feb. 15 may have to pay a penalty.

ACA open enrollment ends Feb. 15. Enrollment for Medicaid is year-round.

Economic Development On the Rise in Allegheny West Community

"This is exactly the type of public-private partnership that combines resources with strong providers to serve communities throughout Philadelphia. The City will continue to invest in our seniors to ensure high quality care and to ensure that they are able to continue their life without concern of sustainable and affordable housing." The apartments at Allegheny, slated to open in 2015, will offer spacious and modern one-bedroom apartments for low-income seniors age 62 and older. A preference will be given to those applicants in need of supportive services, such as the LIFE program. NewCourtland is a Philadelphia based non-profit, senior service provider. To learn more, log onto www.newcourtland.org or call 1-888-530-4913.

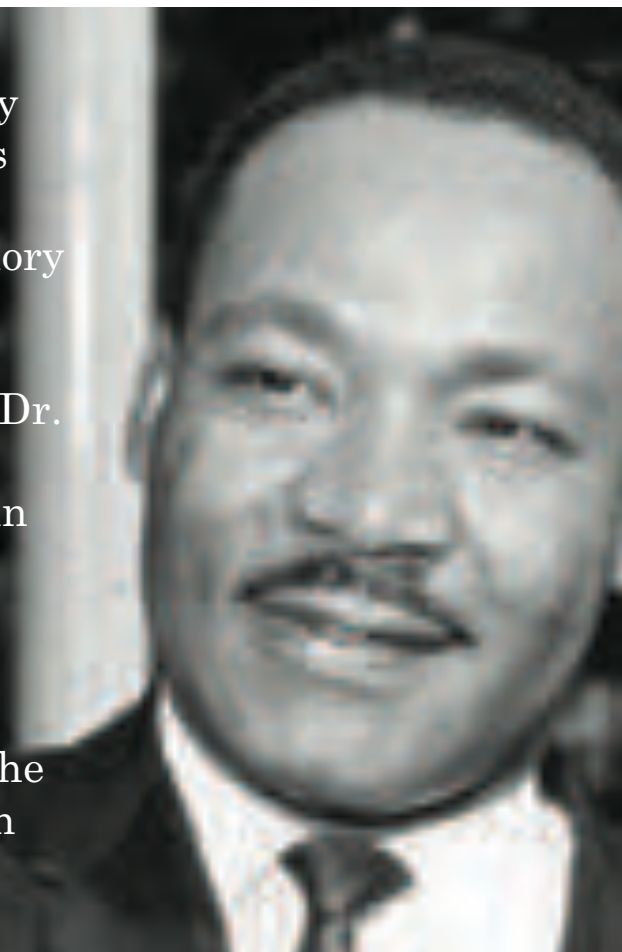

NewCourtland Brings LIFE To Allegheny West Community

NewCourtland, a non-profit provider of community services, affordable senior housing, and skilled nursing care celebrated the opening of its newest LIFE (Living Independently for Elders) Center in May of this year. On the same day, they also broke ground on a new, 60 unit, affordable senior housing complex next door. Located at 1900 W. Allegheny Avenue in North Philadelphia, the LIFE Center and proposed seven-story apartment complex anchor the 5.5 acre Allegheny Senior Community and NewCourtland's commitment to combining affordable senior housing with supportive services wherever possible and appropriate. "The need for high-quality, affordable senior housing in Philadelphia cannot be overstated," said Gail Kass, president and CEO of NewCourtland. "And by linking new housing with supportive services such as LIFE, NewCourtland is providing an innovative and efficient way for Philadelphia seniors to age safely and affordably in the place they call home." The NewCourtland LIFE program provides a broad range of healthcare and supportive services to seniors with a focus on keeping them in their own homes and communities. "Philadelphia has the highest proportion of seniors of any major city in the U.S., noted Bonnie Rose, Pennsylvania Deputy Secretary, Office of Long Term Living. "More and more of those seniors and their families want the option of staying in their own home and having access to the medical care they need. NewCourtland has been a leader in advancing that model both in housing and care." "Congratulations to all the partners who worked so hard to make this project happen," said Alan Greenberger, Deputy Mayor for Economic Development.

Retired Fire Commissioner Lloyd Ayers He's One Of Us

An Allegheny West Newspaper Staff Report

The RAH Civic Association hosted their regular general membership meeting for residents who live in the area of 31st and W. Allegheny Avenue, down to Ridge Avenue, just past Scott Lane. The meeting was well attended, even though it was a cold, wet October evening. The meeting was held at the Saint James Chapel at 32nd and Clearfield Streets. After a presentation from a weatherization expert, next up on the agenda was a celebration of now retired Fire Commissioner Lloyd Ayers, who lives in the RAH service area for many years of his life. He's one of us. Not only did the RAH Civic Association celebrate Lloyd Ayers, so did the Community Action Group and the Residents Coalition. Ralph Wynder, most recent past Leader of the 38th ward and President of the Residents Coalition stated, "Over all the years that I've known Lloyd, he's always remained a steadfast friend and supporter and he's never forgotten from whence he has come. I will always treasure our friendship".

Commissioner Ayers received a standing ovation as he accepted his award. Looking back at his work history with the city of Philadelphia, it should be noted that Lloyd Ayers graduated from the Philadelphia Fire department from Class 143 of the Philadelphia Fire Academy and he's been a Fireman for the last 40 years. He began work as a firefighter in North Philadelphia, but over four decades, has worked in every part of the city from Roxborough to Southwest Philadelphia. Over time he rose through the ranks to lieutenant, captain, battalion chief, to finally being appointed Commissioner in December 2004. What's on the agenda for the Fire Commish now that he's retired? He says he and his wife will travel and also will look to do other things to continue to be of service to the city they both love dearly.

RAH Civic Association On The Move

Darece Wiliford President of CAG

The Ridge Allegheny Hunting Park Civic Association, (RAH) kept very busy all year long. They remained committed to sponsoring clean-ups — all up and down their part of W. Allegheny Ave., from Ridge to 31st and W. Allegheny Avenue. Senior Citizens from the RAH Civic Association service area were treated to lunch at the Country Buffet earlier this year and to the movies. At least 5 general membership meetings were held in 2014 by RAH, a number of families benefited from the RAH efforts to feed a few needy families during Thanksgiving and again for Christmas, RAH was busy collecting contributions from area businesses and others, to purchase some gift items for children who come from low-income homes so they will have a nice Christmas. RAH Civic Association, under the leadership of its President Rosalie Cooper, placed a wonderful "Welcome To Our Area" sign on property owned by John Dawkins, the owner of the McDonalds at 31st and W. Allegheny Avenue. Special thanks to National Penn Bank for supporting our vision and special thanks to McDonalds Owner John Dawkins for supporting our work as well and to all others who support RAH.

Community Action Group Suggest: SWEEP IN FRONT OF YOUR STORE

Darece Wiliford President of CAG

Community Action Group, (CAG) is asking residents and businesses to show pride in our community by looking out for your neighbors, helping to keep the neighborhood clean and teaching children to throw trash in receptacles. We asked that residents sweep their sidewalks on a regular basis and that businesses sweep the pavement in front of their business before opening to the public each morning. Today it is very rare to see a business owner or employee sweeping their pavement.

We must hold businesses accountable and insist that they keep their business neat and clean with no loitering, or we must not support them. We are especially asking for the pride in the neighborhood to shine because we don't want to see piles of trash as the base of poles holding our brand new green and white CAG banners. Our banners are saying to the world that we do "Love Where We Live and Live Where We Love."

The picture next to this story is of summer youth workers cleaning up on N. 22nd Street. However, the point we want to make is that all businesses should have someone assigned, who will sweep in front of their door, every day. It's about keeping our neighborhoods, our community, clean.

SEPTA Brings A 1.4 Million Dollar Bus Loop Improvement Project to 23rd & Venango

Joining a wave of redevelopment occurring in the Allegheny West corridor, SEPTA recently gathered with local officials and community members to break ground on a major reconstruction of the 23rd and Venango Bus Loop. The project will result in the full renovation of a key, but aging facility as the busy loop that also fronts Hunting Park Avenue.

"In addition to modern amenities for customers, we envision the completed loop as a grand gateway to the revitalization efforts now underway in this section of North Philadelphia" said SEPTA General Manager Joseph M. Casey at the groundbreaking ceremony, where he was joined by the community members and officials including Philadelphia Councilwoman Cindy Bass, Allegheny West Foundation President Ronald Hinton, and other elected, business and community leaders.

Full construction kicked off this summer. Taking about 10 months to complete. The project will result in a variety of improvements in and around the facility including:

- New bus boarding islands, passenger shelters, enhanced lighting, trash cans and recycling bins and signage. Bike racks will also be installed.
- Safety enhancements for customers. Pedestrians and motorists using surrounding roads with bus lane and crosswalk striping, a new bus driveways, and repaved [pedestrian sidewalks.
- Full accessibility under the Americans for Disabilities Act (ADA). ADA-cuts.
- New landscaping on the site and its perimeter will improve the atmosphere for riders and residents.

The $1.7 million to be used for the 23rd and Venango Project will come from savings from funds secured with the assistance of U.S. Representative Chaka Fattah for a spate bus loop project that came in well under budget. In fact, Allegheny West will see additional community investment of these funds through another loop improvement project at 35th and Allegheny scheduled for construction in 2015.

SEPTA serves more than 5,000 riders daily at the 23rd and Venango loop which serves as the terminus for Routes 33 and 56 and as a connecting stop on Routes 1 and R. In addition to the transit and neighborhood connections, riders also find the loop provides convenient access to the Salvation Army's Kroc Center, Baker's Centre Shopping Complex, and the ever-popular AWF/TastyKake Store, right next to the Hunting Park side of the SEPTA loop at 23rd Street.

SEPTA looks forward to providing the community with a first class facility, including Community Relations Coordinator Wendy Green Harvey, who encouraged Allegheny West residents and business owners with specific concerns about the projects impact to contact her at 215-580-7661.

Sherman Mills: An Awesome Place to Live and Work

Thera Martin-Milling

Allegheny West Foundation

Thanks to City Councilman Curtis Jones, Jr. and Rosalie Cooper, President of the RAH Civic Association, I was invited to come along on a tour of a place called Dobson Mills, the most eclectic, quaint, cozy, sexy place I've come to enjoy, in this part of Philadelphia, (the Allegheny West area of North Philadelphia). Mark Sherman, the owner of Dobson Mills, shared the story with me. "In March of 2000, this property was pretty much abandoned and stripped out and me and my team came in and for the last 14 years, we developed it for the creative class, commercial users and residential living. So far it's been an ideal location geographically, in the middle of everything center city. We're close to Northeast Philadelphia, Germantown, Chestnut Hill, and North Philadelphia, as well. We're pretty close to everything. We're close to key Universities, including Temple, University of Penn, St. Joe's University and Philadelphia University. People looking for wonderful apartments can look here. Down the line, we plan to offer condos as well. That's a long range plan to condo things out and have ownership for everybody who's renting now. The really interesting piece here is that there's very affordable housing for people of all financial levels. It is also an incubator for small businesses. If you are a start-up company, this is the place you want to come".

Mark Sherman says there's close to 100 small businesses housed currently at Sherman Mills, with space still available for more renters. On the wellness end, they have chiropractors, accupuncturers, massausers and colonic wellness facilities. They have businesses that do palates classes, a fitness facility, on the physical education side of life, and also there's plenty of hair salons. There's also the creative artists, painters, potters, jewelry maker.

Block Captain Boot Camps A Hit

Thera Martin-Milling
Allegheny West Foundation

City Councilman Curtis Jones, Jr. (4th District), hosted the 7th Annual Block Captain Boot Camp and

First Annual District Day Festival last August, (August 16, 2014 to be exact). The Block Captain Boot

Camp took place at Beeber Middle School, 5925 Malvern Avenue. Immediately following the Block

Captains Boot Camp, Jones hosted the first annual District Day Street Festival on Upland Way between

57th & 59th Streets. The Block Captain Boot Camp and District Day Festival provided community leaders across the 4th

Council District a day of empowerment, leadership training, neighborhood improvement and celebration.

The Block Captain Boot Camp is an opportunity for block captains to forge new connections with fellow block captains, as well as receive information about city services and programs to share with neighbors. Over 300 registered block captains attended and learned about tools and resources to improve their neighborhood blocks.

"Good neighbors look out their windows, see what's going on and shake their heads. Great neighbors open their door, see what's happening and get involved," says Councilman Jones. "Block

Captains Boot

Camp prepares and equips great neighbors to get engaged in their communities."

Corporate and community partners and city agencies were on-site to provide personalized assistance, answer questions for block captains and residents, and provide resources and giveaways. Partners included the Office of Emergency Management, the Department of Licenses and Inspection, The Streets Department, the Energy Coordinating Agency, Keystone Health, Comcast, Wells Fargo and many others.

District Day was free and open to the public and Councilman Jones and his staff

look forward to hosting

another Block Captains Boot Camp in 2015, along with another District Day Festival.

First African-American Woman Youngblood Elected To Caucus Leadership Post

Thera Martin-Milling
Allegheny West Foundation

With her election this week to the post of House Democratic Caucus secretary, state Rep. Rosita C. Youngblood, D-Phila., became the first African-American woman to hold a caucus leadership position since the Pennsylvania General Assembly was organized in 1682.

First elected to represent the 198th Legislative District in 1994 and currently serving as Democratic chairwoman of the House Gaming Oversight Committee, Youngblood will now take on administrative duties, track votes on the House floor and work with others in caucus leadership to develop legislation, policy and strategy.

"I am honored and proud to have been elected as the Pennsylvania House Democratic Caucus secretary for the upcoming legislative session," Youngblood said. "And to become the first ever African-American woman elected to a House leadership position is both humbling and hard to believe, since so many talented African-American women have served in this chamber throughout the years. But I look forward to working with my colleagues on board Youngblood took over the position upon her election by fellow House Democrats on Nov. 12.

The Saturday, June 28, 2014 North 22nd Street Community Day Festival was a huge success!

The Ridge Allegheny Hunting Park Civic Association, (RAH) kept very busy all year long. They remained committed to sponsoring clean-ups— all up and down their part of W. Allegheny Ave., from Ridge to 31st and W. Allegheny Avenue. Senior Citizens from the RAH Civic Association service area were treated to lunch at the Country Buffet earlier this year and to the movies. At least 5 general membership meetings were held in 2014 by RAH, a number of families benefited from the RAH efforts to feed a few needy families during Thanksgiving and again for Christmas, RAH was busy collecting contributions from area businesses and others, to purchase some gift items for children who come from low-income homes so they will have a nice Christmas. RAH Civic Association, under the leadership of its President Rosalie Cooper, placed

Community Action Group, (CAG) is asking residents and businesses to show pride in our community by looking out for your neighbors, helping to keep the neighborhood clean and teaching children to throw trash in receptacles. We asked that residents sweep their sidewalks on a regular basis and that businesses sweep the pavement in front of their business before opening to the public each morning. Today it is very rare to see a business owner or employee sweeping their pavement. We must hold businesses accountable and insist that they keep their business neat and clean with no loitering, or we must not support them. We are especially asking for the pride in the neighborhood to shine because we don't want to see piles of trash as the base of poles holding our brand new green and white CAG banners. Our banners are saying to the world that we do "Love Where We Live and Live Where We Love.", submitted by Darece Wiliford, President of CAG.

The Allegheny West Foundation Neighborhood Action Committee, (AWF/NAC), has also had a positive and busy year, having hosted 6 Community Meetings, and several workshops including one health fair and one workshop that focused on how to save your home from foreclosure. The NAC operates and afterschool program for elementary age students, 4 days a week between 3:30:pm-5pm. The youth get to enjoy arts and crafts, computer games and assistance with navigating through homework if that's needed. Regina Smith is President of the AWF/NAC and in January of 2015, they'll be having elections for new officers. For details contact Kiesha Garner, at 267-249-5203.

Philadelphia College Prep Roundtable Presents “College Application Day” At Murrell Dobbins CTE

The Philadelphia College Prep Roundtable (PCPR) and the Pennsylvania Association for College Admission Counseling (PACAC) have a goal—increase the number of first-generation and low income college students entering college. Realizing that the first stumbling block towards achieving this goal may very well be the complex college application process, they sought assistance from area education partners to help high school seniors navigate the complex college admissions process. Two-thousand fourteen is the first year of participation for PA and NJ schools in the American College Application Campaign. “We are modeling an effort as a community to help high school seniors understand the college application process which can be intimidating,” said PCPR Director Thomas Butler. Experts from area post-high schools were on hand to help students fill out hard copy and on line applications. Workshops on Writing a College Essay and Funding Post-High School Education were also on hand.

More than 50 volunteers from the higher education community and distinguished Dobbins Alumni and Friends of the Alumni offered words of encouragement and inspiration to the members of the Class of 2015. Superintendent Hite welcomed those in attendance and thanked the volunteers for their service.

The list of distinguished speakers included:
State Senator Shirley Kitchen;
Fire Commissioner Derrick Sawyer;

Retired Fire Commissioner Lloyd Ayers ‘69; Retired Police Commissioner Sylvester Johnson ‘60; Fire Captain Lisa Forrest ‘99; Sheriff Jewell Williams ‘75; Deputy Commissioner of Wills, Ralph Wynder ‘67; Barbara Dawkins ‘65 Owner/Operator McDonald’s Franchises; Red Cross Regional Director Chaz Allen ‘97; NBA Coach Doug Overton ‘87; Commanding Officer Forensic Science Center Dr. Brandville G. Bard, Jr. ‘88; Emmanuel Bussie ‘83 JPM Chase; and Rev. Glenn Spaulding, Deliverance Evangelistic Church.

Other Alumni Volunteers included:
Thomas Matthews ‘68, Denise (Dean) Smith ‘74; Carl Moore ‘79; John Bowie ‘74; David Rainey ‘53; Michael Johnson ‘78; Susan Walker ‘71; Darlene (Reed)

Beasley ‘71; Johnathan Tyler ‘71; Sherry (Wilson) Butler ‘68; Reuben Jones ‘82; retired VP-Comcast, Sharon Ingram ‘70; Greg ‘Bo’ Kimble ‘85; retired Under Sheriff Connie Little ‘65; Coach Richard Yankowitz; retired Business Teacher, Charles Shirley; retired Mathematic teachers Rhonda Baker and Judy Gaskins; Cosmetology Instructor Lori Martin ‘75 and Alumni President Carolyn (Cole) Monson ‘64. “It’s important that all of our students are career and college ready”, said Dobbins High School Principal Dr. Toni Damon. This event was a step towards that end.

“We are appreciative of everyone helping our over 100 12th graders with the college application process.”

Having said all of that, have a wonderful Holiday Season everyone. Just be safety-smart while doing it!

Councilman Jones shared that these businesses he toured, pretty much compliment each other. Jones says he feels with the right marketing, the businesses can be a network of support for each other. For example, there's a Wedding Chapel at Sherman Mills. Councilman Jones envisions people who get married at the wedding chapel, just may want to book the Kairos room, (Banquet facility) for their reception. There's a massage studio at Sherman Mills, and Councilman Jones suggest that a "wedding couple" might want to have a "couples massage" there, just before their wedding day. There's also a new caterer that has set up shop at Sherman Mills, and Jones further connected the dots, by saying perhaps, the people who have receptions or other events at the Kairos Room, might want to use the catering business that's on the grounds of Sherman Mills.
