Out On A Limb

2780 E. Bidwell Street, Folsom
916-984-9310

If you're going on vacation, or just want to feel like you are, do we have the store for you! Out On A Limb is a women's boutique shop featuring natural fiber clothing with a distinctive resort feel and look. Their comfortable, stylish and unique apparel features fibers such as batik, cotton, rayon, tencel, wool and silk. Many people have certain stereotypes about "natural fiber" clothing, which include drab colors and shapeless lines. Well, we can tell you first-hand that the clothing in Out On A Limb is anything but!

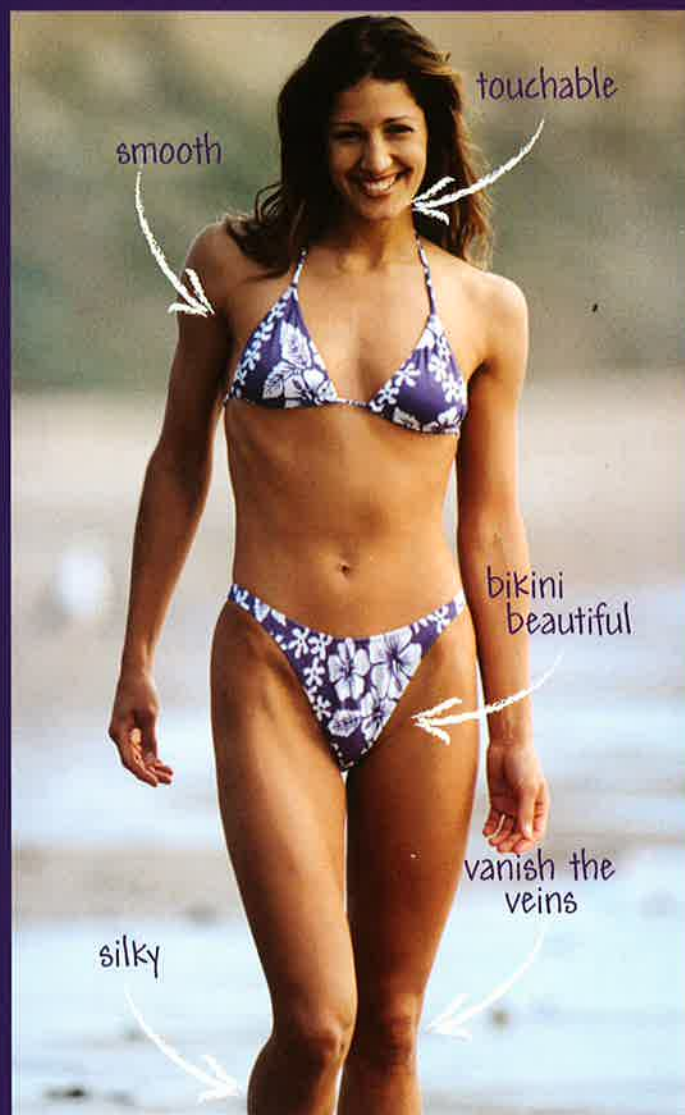

There are bright colors, beautiful patterns and exquisite sets everywhere you look. The jewelry is equally as fun and exciting. It fits right in with an upscale, yet casual, lifestyle. The clientele are often repeat customers who realize that, in this day and age, it is hard to find specialty boutiques that cater to women. Owner Teresa Baker says even out-of-town visitors come back time and time again and tell her, "I always have to go into your store because you have such a unique and different thing."

The Out On A Limb concept started in Teresa's first business, Cameron Park Health Foods. In existence still today, it was started 24 years ago, and at one time housed a small section of jewelry, gemstones, rocks and crystals, as well as some clothing. Teresa first "branched out" (yes, this was actually some inspiration behind the name) by opening the original Out On A Limb right next door. In July 2003, Teresa opened her second location in Folsom's Broadstone Marketplace, an area that she feels is "a premiere shopping center in a growing area." It seems only "natural" that Teresa now owns a Folsom-based business - her mother once owned a Sutter Street gallery featuring her own oil paintings.
