Author weaves real-life tastings into a love story and shares the beauty of Fredericksburg and 290 wineries in this debut novel.

Dateline: AUSTIN, TX, USA, 10/1/2021—Heather Renée May quarantined at Open Air RV Resort in Spicewood during the COVID19 pandemic in her 19 foot travel trailer and emerged with her first debut fiction novel that highlights 14 wineries along the Texas Wine Trail; Texas Heritage Vineyard, Bingham Family Vineyards, Longhorn Cellars, Fiesta Winery 290, Pontotoc

Vineyards, Fredericksburg Winery, Lost Draw Cellars, Los Pinos Ranch Vineyards, Messina Hof Winery, Grape Creek / Heath Sparkling Wines, AB Astris, Hye Meadow Winery, and Ron Yates Wines. The author's love of Texas shines as she expertly weaves in the descriptions of the actual wineries and tastings to provide a rich backdrop to the overall arc of the story.

“Heather Renée May’s CACTUS CHRISTMAS is an uplifting and immensely readable novel about a woman’s journey back to happiness and love after a divorce, framed in a gorgeous Texas Wine Country setting.” - IndieReader

Heather Renée May is passionate about fourth quarter pivots, and delighted that she can finally channel her love of wine into something productive. She hosts the Flipping Dreams podcast, is a performing musician with two albums (Heather Ré), and a software engineer. She lives full-time in a 22 foot trailer traveling around the U.S. with her sweet rescue pup, Dotty.

New York Times best-selling author, Kate Summers, is facing divorce in her 40's, and up against a hard deadline. She rents an Airstream on the Texas Wine Trail to find inspiration, but discovers much more... She meets Zach, a medical doctor from the Northeast scouting for a winery to invest in. They decide to spend a week enjoying tastings, but just as they are getting to know one another, he has to return suddenly back home.

The holidays are hard for Kate, as she lost her mother two years ago. This Cactus Christmas is prickly and sweet as Kate must heal her heart, try to reconnect with her estranged sister, Lillie, and find her way on her own.

Will she finish her book? Will she meet Zach again? Will timing ever be right?

“I wanted to write a story that was uplifting during a difficult time, and also have a little fun. Vintage Airstream? Texas Wine? Second chances at love? Why not!” - Heather Renée May
