

David Robert Hill

David Robert Hill is a well established painter who lives and works in the upper Blue Mountains NSW.

He graduated from the Julian Ashton Art School in 1972 (Dip Fine Art – Painting, Drawing, Design).

His has been a voyage of discovery with many twists and turns over the years, experimenting with technique and approach.

He is known for his celebratory use of colour and varied subject matter and is never happier than when working at the easel, for him painting is a lifelong calling.

David has had numerous solo exhibitions and is represented in private and corporate collections in Australia and overseas.

He has written many articles for national art magazines and is the author of three art/poetry books.

The Painter's Art 2017,

Gallimaufry 2004, and

Matters Metaphysical 1999.