

Integrated Executive Protection Services and Personal Security awareness Training Package

Are you expecting a high-ranking visitor, are you attending a congress, or do you need personal and escort protection in your everyday business life or on a business trip? Do you feel persecuted or threatened and need protection for yourself or a family member? Do you work in a diplomatic environment, or are you traveling to war zones for international missions? Does your leadership team need to interact in public and in potentially dangerous situations? Do you have people to protect but need to maintain an invisible security presence?

In today's political and global economy, the threat of kidnapping, kidnapping, ransom, violence, stalking, industrial espionage, and organized crime is significant! Infrastructures, managers, employees, and their families are increasingly being targeted! Meetings, public forums, and public events are increasingly becoming victims of violence, which not only affects the safety of managers, but can also have serious consequences for the company's image.

You don't have to be a billionaire or a foreigner working in a war zone to be a target. You can find yourself at risk just because of where you travel, where your operations are based, your public profile or your industry. Some sectors carry a higher risk because of the nature of their business, or the locations that they tend to work in, such as:

- Oil, Gas, and Mining
- Construction and Engineer
- Media, Journalists and Diplomacy
- Telecommunications, Pharma
- Humanitarian and aid agencies
- Aviation, Finance and Security
