Alexis Martin-Vegue, is a professional Grand Prix Dressage Trainer, clinician, USEF 'r' Judge, with USDF Bronze, Silver, Gold medals, and Silver freestyle. She is a graduate of the USDF L program with distinction, using her education in judging to help horses and riders excel in competition with a focus on classical ethics.

Alexis is currently head trainer at Dorado Andaluz, a PRE Horse breeding farm. She is recipient of The Dressage Foundation, Fund grant for Pure Spanish Horse/Pura Raza Española (P.R.E.).

Her long list of accomplishments includes FEI competition, training several horses up the levels to grand prix, with an emphasis on correct posture for both horse and rider. Alexis is known for her engaging and fun teaching style, with a solid foundation of biomechanics learned from her long-time mentor, Mary Wanless.
