

Distant Understandings

Been seeing a lot of you lately. And I don't know if I can take the time.
I think it all comes down to understanding, or maybe some friendship and a glass of wine
And what I want to be, it somehow eludes me.
It's just a dream I cannot grab. I cannot feel.

And all the world is in a cage. Mulling around in a silent rage.
Bringing forth my blood stained tears. A notion filled with only scraps of time.
And what I want to be, it somehow eludes me.
It's just a dream I cannot grab. I cannot feel.

Chorus

The feeling words have all gone. Somehow I just got it wrong.
Strangely I said hello I guess. So many things to say I couldn't help but cross my words, over the way things just turned out. I'd help myself if only you would help me.

Verse

The more I have yet to gain. It drives me like a dim lit torch
Amber flames caressing souls. Guideposts to another place
And what I want to be; it somehow eludes me.
It's just a dream I cannot grab; I cannot feel.

Chorus

Sometimes I feel so strong. And sometimes it just seems so wrong.
When you walked I said, such a way I felt I couldn't help to feel my way had lost its breath
Had lost its breath

Something in my life; it's cuts me like a knife.
I feel it in my heart and soul
I want you in my life
I want you by my side
I want to never let you go

Verse