

How Ya Feel?

Verse

There's no time left for reasons, why I feel the way I feel
The precedence is now receding, between the cracks within my life
Now the pattern has been broken, torn, recycled into light
My two worlds are approaching, moving closer with the pass of time

Chorus

How ya feel? It's good to know
Are you well, I can't tell
How's your day? You feel Ok?
I can't hear, what'd you say?

Honesty can be deceiving and we know an empty heart can always lie
All we ever know are the feelings, that we have left inside
And who's to say what's going to happen, we can only take it day-by-day
But I do know that I'm happy, with you here by my side

Chorus

Bridge

There's no way I thought you would stay
I have a silly knack for always getting in my own way
But what I know is this feeling, surging through my heart and mind
So I'm hoping there's a reason, you've appeared at this time
You should know that what I'm feeling, has rearranged my life
Yes, I'm hoping there's a reason, you've appeared at this time

© 1994, 2002 Written by: Michael J. Nanna

® (p) 2017 Orange Room Media, Inc