Lindsay is a wife, mom, and real estate agent. She joined Haynes and Associates in 2017 and has proven to be a true people-person. Her clients appreciate her understanding and empathy for their individual situations because she works on their behalf.

Lindsay hails from Colorado Springs and has worked in both the medical and insurance industry and even had a stint as a barista at Starbucks. Practically every position that she has had called for a service-oriented, customer-focused mindset, and she delivered!

Her motivation for her real estate career is to help guide her clients to the home of their dreams in the Dunwoody and greater Atlanta area.
