

THE INSPIRED COMMUNITY PROJECT

"The Inspired Community Project, Inc was founded under the idea that special education instruction, resources and career opportunities should be equally accessible across all people, communities, and boroughs. New York City is one of the most diverse cities in the world with the most segregated and inequitable education systems in the country."

We provide no-cost early intervention therapeutic services to children with disabilities, advocacy coaching for families, and specialized career training and certifications for those in the community. Creating a self-sustaining special education resources system, of the community for the community.

Children

Our Early Intervention Program will provide an interdisciplinary approach of Applied Behavior Analysis, Speech Therapy, Occupational Therapy. The children living in the Bronx are currently underserved to due to the lack of trained professionals living in, or willing to travel to the Bronx. We will provide both center-based and in home support.

Family

Our Family Advocacy Coaching provides families with roadmaps and guidance navigating an inaccessible and often infuriating Early Intervention system. Ensuring that our resources are accessible to families (translated & hosted on-line for convenient viewing) and transition support for when they move on from the early intervention supports.

Community

Our Training & Excellence Program provides intensive, hands-on training and certification support for Registered Behavior Technicians who will provide services for the children in the community they both reside. Focus on Community partnerships with local colleges, universities and workforce development organizations.

Why TICP?

We are the only educator founded, data-based, holistic empowerment, early intervention program. We not only want to provide empirically sound therapeutic services to children with disabilities, but we want to support community members into special education careers, financial literacy and wellness support. We don't just want to provide a service, we want to enrich and empower the entire community.

We teach our children how to learn, empower our families to be fierce advocates, and support community members to become the certified professionals that the Bronx needs. As educators our mission is to create lifelong learners. Through high quality training, hands-on support and a people-first focus, we are creating a sustainable foundation for future generations within the special education community.

Our vision is equitable access to special education services and resources. We believe that empowering and fostering professionals and advocates in the community will support and serve its youngest members.

With equity, advocacy, and empowerment at our core, driving all of our decision-making, focusing our course, we know that a more equitable special education system in New York City is possible.
