

Introduction

Every night I'm waking up from a dream covered in sweat. This was no longer a dream, but it became reality. I'm always asking myself, how did I get into this mess. And why something always happening to me. As women we always constantly asking ourselves, what did I do wrong. Why I'm I being treated this way. As a woman, I can tell you growing up without a father or male figure in my life, started the problems I'm feeling today. And we want to know why our relationship with a man always end in pain and betrayal. It's because we are always looking for the wrong things in a man.

Some of us just want a man to be faithful, honest, loyal and trustworthy. At first it seem like he fit all the qualities we are looking for in a man, but after awhile deceit sets in. They truly shows us the liars they really are. So tell me, how can you give a man your all and he may not be worth it. A lot of women goes through these toxic relationships, but how can we avoid an ultimate betrayal from a lying, cheating, backstabbing less of a man who tells you he really love you and don't...Let me stop right there, because not only men hurt us, but majority of the time it's family members. And that's when it hurts the most. I constantly ask myself, who should I trust when you don't know who to trust. Seem like every time I let my guards down and let people into my space, I end up being the one who suffers... but this one was the ultimate betrayal....COMING SOON!!!

The chapters in this book will take the reader on a journey, showing how this young woman and women struggle with their inner intuition against conscious decisions in their lives. This book has consisting shocking twist, drama, suspense, tension, and conflict. An untold story like you never heard before...You are in for a treat, just sit back with a bowl of popcorn and a drink, because you definitely going to need one after reading this story. The Ultimate Betrayal/ Keneshia vs. Neshia COMING SOON!!! Published through www.bslpublishing.com ...