Dear Parishioners,

In our lives, we all encounter moments of sadness, darkness, and even despair. This suffering is not new to the human condition; it is something we all face, and no one escapes it. So how can we celebrate the Resurrection of Jesus in times like these?

Imagine the Apostles after the Crucifixion, how frightened, sorrowful, and uncertain they must have felt. Their Teacher, the Messiah, the One for whom they had given everything, was gone, murdered in a brutal and humiliating way. And imagine the Blessed Mother: her anguish, her sorrow, her mourning, not only over the death of her Son, but over the cruelty with which He suffered. How did they endure such darkness? Some likely did the best they could, moving from one moment to the next. Others may have felt as though they were barely holding on.

I invite us to reflect on these dark moments not to lead us into despair, but to remind us that our Lord, Jesus, entered fully into suffering, along with those He loved. They were not spared pain and anguish. And if they were not spared, we should not assume that we will be either. The question, then, is not whether we will face suffering, but how we will continue through it.

This is precisely where the Resurrection meets us. The Resurrection is not merely an event that happened long ago in a distant place. It is not just a moment in time; it is the beginning of a new reality: an era of hope, light, victory, and fulfillment.

What does this mean for us? It means that our Lord's Resurrection is not only His glory, but it is our glory in Him. We have been given the gift of seeing beyond suffering and pain. We have received a treasure that cannot be taken from us, if we are willing to open our hearts to Christ and allow Him to transform our circumstances into prayer, into an offering of trust in His mercy and love. This is the promise of the Resurrection: that we are invited to trust in Him, as He fills us with His grace.

As Padre Pio once said, "The cross will never oppress you; its weight might cause you to stagger, but its strength will sustain you." The crosses we bear are not carried alone; Jesus carries them with us. This is made possible through His Resurrection.

So, we hold fast to our Lord and to His promises. We allow His light to guide us through the darkness. And we take time to recall the blessings we have received, giving thanks to God for them. It is easy to focus on what we lack or what troubles us, but the Resurrection invites us to see with new eyes—to recognize how deeply we are loved.

We must not abandon the Lord in the midst of the storm. Remember Saint Peter, it was only when he took his eyes off Jesus that he began to sink (cf. Matthew 14:22–33).

My friends, I want you to know what a blessing it has been to serve you, to learn from you, and to walk alongside you. I have witnessed in you strength, resilience, and deep faith.

In a world that is not perfect, we celebrate the Resurrection with hearts full of joy and love, because the One who is perfect has conquered the world and shown us the way to overcome it as well. The joy of the Resurrection is contagious.

The love of our Lord is transformative. And Jesus invites us to trust that He is the Way, the Truth, and the Life.

Christ is Risen! Truly He is Risen! Al Massih Qam! Haqqan Qam!
