“To Gather Together”

For Phoenix Knife Fights' grand finale CAC students competed head to head in their own round for the Jr. Chefs division. After a nail-biting 40 minutes, Jack Chapman (seen in black) produced a play on clam chowder dish and Aidan Cory (seen in white) produced an asian salmon dish. The club's own VP, Aidan took the title of winner and the new owner of a brand new japanese chef knife.

Chef Ken Arneson, Executive Chef of Adero Resort in Scottsdale needed help this second to last week of November and called upon the CAC culinary students. Dakota Keenan, Kyle Cramer, Makinzie Miranda, and Sarah Horn traveled up to his kitchen, helped prep dishes for service, prep the products for the big banquet and helped plate the four course meal for that banquet.

The banquet held multiple individuals some including representatives from Food and Wine Magazine. It was a great opportunity for club members to get in the kitchen and out in the community.

It was family night for the Pinal County Sheriff's Office and five of Mise En Places' club members (all seen in bottom photo left to right - Dylan Kavanaugh, Kayla Alewine, Sarah Horn, Geramyah Dagnino, Carlos Dagnino) went down to Heritage Park in Florence to fire up the grill for hot dogs and hamburgers. Everyone enjoyed family time, eating bbq and watching Home Alone in lawn chairs. It was great connecting and sharing with the community and we will be seeing more events with PCSO soon!
