

Subject tasters and virtual work experience

If you're looking for extra evidence or something to set you apart in your personal statement, why not try subject tasters or virtual work experience in your areas of interest? You can try a university-level course or get some industry experience under your belt - useful not only to validate your choices, but also something great to shout about in your personal statement.

Psychology Tasters

Virtual Work Experiences