PLUS: Look out for details about a new joint project by Worcester University and The Hive to collect and archive Worcestershire’s LGBT+ Oral Histories. (date to be confirmed)
Dr Daniel Somerville, Worcester University LGBTQ+ Staff Network Co-Chair and Treasurer of Worcestershire Pride, will present the project and tell us how you can get involved.

Events around Worcester

Lizzie (15)
1-7 Feb, The Courtyard Theatre, Edgar Street, Hereford, HR4 9JR
The tale of suspected axe murderer Lizzie Borden (Sevigny), who stood accused of the murder of her father and stepmother at Fall River, Massachusetts, 1892, is brought to the screen again in this reimagnined take for our times. Surviving a claustrophobic life, despite a father’s domineering control, social outcast Lizzie discovers friendship and sexual intimacy with a young maid, Bridget Sullivan (Stewart) and they soon develop a wicked plan. A psychological thriller that will keep you on the edge of your seat, this is beautifully shot. Themes of fierce revenge, darkness, and dominance prevail in this genre-twisting tale.

Quentin Crisp: Naked Hope
Weds 13 Feb – Artrix Arts Centre, Slideslow Drive, Bromsgrove B60 1GN
From a conventional upbringing to global notoriety via The Naked Civil Servant, Quentin Crisp was an extraordinary raconteur and wit. Openly gay as early as the 1930s, Quentin spent decades being beaten up on London’s streets for his refusal to be anything less than himself. His courage, and the powerful philosophy that evolved from those experiences, inspire to the present day. This much-acclaimed solo play, following a UK tour and off-West End season, shows Quentin in his beloved Chelsea flat in the 1960s, and in his final years in his adopted New York.
