The SOUTHSIDE STORY

On March 28, 1991, Southside Cafe was opened for business by Dan & Sharon DeBlanc, bartender Chris Legrand (now the managing partner) and the help of good friends. The idea was to create a neighborhood restaurant like the ones Dan, Sharon & Chris grew up with in New Orleans. With comfort food like ya' Mamma makes, a bar chock full of your favorite libations & frozen mugs of beer, you could easily imagine yourself to be in any neighborhood restaurant from the 9th Ward to Uptown New Orleans.

Southside had slowly grown into a favorite meeting spot for many of Slidell's movers and shakers. It also had become one of the most patriotic places to eat. The Military theme grew out of the rising patriotism brought about by the First Iraqi War and Dan being a former Marine Corps Helicopter pilot. As many of Slidell's finest young men and women left to go protect our country overseas, an idea was birthed to honor them by hanging their pictures on the wall. Those pictures quickly grew to memorabilia and pictures of local veterans from all the wars our country had fought.

A SLIDELL TRADITION SINCE 1991

On August 29, 2005, Hurricane Katrina devastated South Slidell. It pushed 3 feet of Lake Pontchartrain into the restaurant. Again, with the help of good friends & staff Southside was renovated and was set to reopen in early November 2005. In the early morning hours of October 23rd, the restaurant burned to the ground, destroying all the memorabilia and pictures. The fire had derailed the hard work and effort that had been put into the renovation and it almost broke the spirit of everyone involved. Almost...Fiercely determined, construction started over, rebuilt and reopened in May of 2006. Now bigger and better than ever, Southside never looked back.

In July 2025, patriarch Dan DeBlanc passed unexpectedly. Once again, Sharon & Chris along with their families and amazing staff pulled together to continue the legacy Dan and the Southside family had laid the groundwork for. The staff continues to honor that legacy every day.

Southside is a success story because of very loyal customers, staff and a special group of friends who helped through the most difficult times. We hope you enjoy it as much as we enjoy serving you.

AND REMEMBER NEVER, NEVER, EVER GIVE UP!

Thanks! - Dan, Sharon & Chris
