

JEM Custom Products prototypes a very wide range of items including parts belonging to a working assembly. We work closely with each customer to provide them with the end result they need in the time frame required.

We also work with engineers to develop new products. Accuracy and timeliness is obviously the key to this process. If the success of your product testing and development is the key to your company's future, then rely on JEM Custom Products to keep pace with your prototype and production needs.
