To Whom It May Concern: City Council Meeting Lincoln, Nebraska 2022 02 07

Monday, March 2, 2020

I met with The United Way of Lincoln, Nebraska's Executive Director Meagan Liesveld and her Director of Community Impact Rachael Surmick at the Starbucks off of 33rd and O Street. Part of that conversation can be found on my website task67.com, and I would be more than willing to send any of you the complete audio file.

Later that same day I was called into Major Mark Anderson of The Salvation Army Lincoln Corps office. I was given a writing warning for violating company policy. He never liked it when I would talk to anyone writing our grants or giving us money, although all grants required that of me.

I'm not 100% sure if it was Meagan Liesveld of The United Way or Sara Hoyle of Lincoln/Lancaster County

Human Services that told my boss that I informed them (as required in the grant contracts) that we were not in compliance with those grants. But it's a 50/50 toss up as I had a similar meeting with Sara and another Lincoln/Lancaster employee Friday, February 29th, 2020 in this building.

What I do know is that, going all the way back to Wednesday, June 19, 2019 my 3rd day on the job, Major Mark Anderson of The Salvation Army Lincoln Corps had me and the Community Center Director Matthew Drommond in his office for a telephone conference with Ashley Hollins, Administrative Assistant at The United Way of Lincoln, Nebraska. Major had a pre-filled out C-Impact report for reporting to The United Way that he wanted me to verify to her. I could not do that as I had no idea if any of the information was correct. For instance, I thought it was odd that The Salvation Army had helped 235 people with fires in this city the previous year. I have included some of that information in my packet for you all.

Considering Meagan Liesvelds response to my concerns at Starbucks March 2, 2020 it is obvious to me that she could care less what The Salvation Army did with that money. I do not think she is a good candidate to be on Nebraska's KENO board, as holding local non-profits accountable for her own donor bases donations does not seem to be one of her concerns. Just like Marna Munn could care less about Whistleblowers at the NEOC or AG Doug Peterson tendency to ignoring everyone who complains to him about The Salvation Army.

It's high time for some real leadership by those with good moral character. I believe Meagan Liesveld to be a terrible choice for this position.

Thank you - Brian Williard
