“I very much enjoy Karma, from the audience and as a performer. They come across as a very passionate group and it pours out in their shows, which lends even more passion and emotion to the dance.”—Kat Marscelle Traverse City, MI

Overview of Programming

Make it a memorable

“Those who hear not the music think the dancers mad”- proverb

Throughout history and across cultures, people, music, dance, and celebrations have gone hand in hand. These partnerings create a captivating performance that transcends time and place, bridging past and present, and bringing the exotic near.

Dance is a place where people of all ages and all cultures can share emotion and communicate without the need for a single spoken word. That is a truly special experience, and it is one that we seek to share with many people through our work.

“I signed up for the Karma workshop to get a sense of the local instructors and dance styles. I was very impressed not only with their artistic flair in making ancient music fresh, but in their emphasis in preserving traditional styles and sharing their knowledge in a digestible, pleasing format for both the dancer and audience member. I’m already itching in anticipation of another mesmerizing live performance!”—Wanda Swenson Lansing, MI
