Well summer is over[not the heat] the kids are back in school and all the guests you had over the summer are gone that's good news for your septic less of a load on your system from all those people hanging around now is a good time to do a walk around on your septic field ants may have started a mound over your line during the summer and need to be removed just apply ant killer to the mound look for any landscaping that may have put down roots over and into the lines roots love to invade the lines and stop them up speaking of lines do you have a diagram of where they are if you have a problem you are going to need this why not have it ready when things are calm rather than the frantic time its stopped up when guests arrive?

By the way if you don't have a diagram the club may have one in your lot file at the admin office over the summer I talked about our lakes water quality it has and continues to be well below the acceptable standards I'm happy to see our general manager is including the test results in his monthly news article and hope everyone has a great football fall. Septicly speaking my family hates it when the kids run in and say the toilet want flush and I tell them I'll check it at the half! That seems to stress them out!!
