About the Builder: Hunter Marine

Hunter Marine, now Marlow-Hunter, has been a dominant force in the North American sailboat market for decades. Founded with a commitment to producing performance-oriented yet family-friendly cruising yachts, Hunter built its reputation on innovation, notably with the distinctive B&R Rig and the use of the structural arch/traveler system. Hunter yachts are renowned for maximizing interior volume, providing bright, spacious, and comfortable accommodations, making them incredibly popular for Great Lakes cruising and offshore sailing alike.

About the Model: The Hunter 410

The Hunter 410 is celebrated as one of Hunter's most successful and enduring designs. She strikes an ideal balance between blue water capability and accessible cruising comfort, with exceptional performance under sail. Key features include the deep, secure cockpit, the easily-managed B&R fractional rig, and the hallmark Walk-Thru Transom for easy water access. Below deck, the Hunter 410's 3-cabin layout is exceptionally roomy, featuring a highly sought-after Pullman Berth forward, two private aft cabins, and a spacious central salon with beautiful Teak and Holly Cabin Sole and Custom Upholstery. Her wide beam (13' 11") and generous tankage (Water approx 145 gal, Fuel approx 51 gal) provide the stability and range demanded by serious cruisers.
