Greenspace Behavior,
where the possibility is always YES!

Connect to ongoing supervision support for practitioners with Dr. Zahra Hajiaghamohseni.

Create optimized experiences for everyone; it starts with supervising future behavior analysts.

- Get practical tips on all things supervision to enhance your supervision practice.

- Get quick tips to plant Greenspace Behavior moments in your day-to-day life with the science of human behavior.

Supervising the next generation of behavior analysts can be confusing with all of the ongoing changes. Many of us have not benefited from performance and competency based training on how to supervise. Supervision behaviors are driven by professional and ethical standards. These standards drive behaviors that support how we supervise.

QUICK TIP: Always start with assessing your supervisory volume before you accept a trainee. Assessing volume is a procedural safeguard. Complete a comprehensive time study assessment before you take on any new fieldwork students.

SMILE: Intentionally
at least 20 times a day

WHY: Smiling is biologically good for YOU! YOU feeling better means YOU are more likely to be able to help lift others up.

Give it a try for 30
days.
