Overview

Shadow Black is a First Nations social impact agency specialising in culturally competent mental health literacy, suicide prevention, and community-based solutions for First Nations LGBTIQ+SB communities. With over 20 years of experience, we provide innovative, practical programs that empower marginalised groups, enhance mental well-being, and promote cultural pride.

Core Services

- Suicide Prevention Programs: Tailored mental health literacy initiatives for First Nations men and remote communities, designed to reduce suicide rates through culturally sensitive education.
- Cultural Competency Training: Specialised training for organisations and healthcare providers to improve services for First Nations and LGBTIQA+SB individuals, fostering inclusivity and respect.
- LGBTIQA+SB Support: Through Black Rainbow, we offer suicide prevention programs, safe spaces, and support networks specifically for First Nations LGBTIQA+SB individuals.
- Remote Service Delivery: Flexible telehealth and in-person services, with weekend availability and travel to remote communities to ensure comprehensive support for hard-to-reach populations.

Expertise

- Cultural Understanding: Our deep connection to First Nations heritage ensures that our programs are designed with cultural integrity, meeting the specific needs of the communities we serve.
- Proven Track Record: With two decades of experience in suicide prevention and mental health advocacy, we have successfully implemented numerous community-led initiatives across Australia.
- Flexible Solutions: Exploration of digital-health to in-person workshops, Shadow Black adapts its services to meet the unique needs of remote and marginalised populations, offering flexible and accessible care.
