Production Day Definition

A standard production day is defined as ten (10) consecutive hours beginning at the scheduled crew call time or when production personnel first board the vessel, whichever occurs first.

Any time beyond the ten (10) hour production day will be billed as overtime at $500 per hour for the vessel excluding OT for the crew; charged in one-hour increments.

The production day start time may not be delayed to avoid overtime if crew or production personnel arrive earlier than the scheduled call time.

Additional Charges

- Fuel billed at cost when vessel operates underway. Fuel dock rate + 50%
- Movement or relocation fee may apply depending on filming location.
- Standby or hold day billed at 50% of the standard day rate.
- An exterior cleaning rate of $300 applies before and after production (commercial and private)

Production Protection Clauses

- Maximum Production Day: Filming activities may not exceed thirteen (13) hours without approval. Beyond thirteen hours an additional full day rate may apply.
- Vessel Protection: Production is responsible for any damage caused by crew, equipment, or production activities. A security deposit may be required depending on the scope of filming.

Production Insurance Requirements

- Production company must provide $2M-$5M liability insurance.
- Owners of Yacht Calusa must be listed as additionally insured.
