JAGUAR CAMP, THE RIVER ESSEQUIBO, GUYANA

FEBRUARY TO APRIL & SEPT TO NOVEMBER

THE TRIP

'The incredible Jaguar Camp just keeps getting better'.

Our mobile camps offer the adventure angler the ultimate in multi-species fishing with the potential for that 'bucket list' capture. The trip is located on the mighty Essequibo River and runs between two separate camps, both based nearby local Amerindian villages. These locations provide many miles of water to explore and fish.

Each of the camps provide our anglers with differing and unique fishing environments:

1. Upriver for big Arapaima in the jungle's lakes and lagoons and Redtail and Surubim Cats, Peacock Bass and Payara on the main river,
2. Downriver for many of the bigger Cats, more Peacock Bass and Payara and much, much more.

We offer so much to see and do, for solo anglers, couples, fishing partners, families (with kids of 9yrs and above) and small groups, up to a maximum of ten anglers at any one time.

Species include:

- GIANT ARAPAIMA,
- CATFISH species including REDTAILS, JAU & PIRAIBA,
- PAYARA (VAMPIRE FISH),
- PEACOCK BASS (2 species),
- RED & BLACK PACU,
- COUTI / MATRINXÃ,
- ELECTRIC EELS & STINGRAY,
- BICUDA,
- TRAIRA (WOLF FISH),
- AROWANA,
- PIRANHA,
- JACUNDA,
- DOGFISH,
- PESCADADA (SILVER DRUM)
- and much, much more ...

With over 300 known species within the Essequibo, the opportunities are endless. Our camp tally currently sits at 47, so there is plenty of headroom to add more...

THE LOCATION

The River Essequibo

The Essequibo is the largest river in Guyana, and the largest river between the Orinoco and Amazon. Rising in the Acarai Mountains near the Brazil-Guyana border, the river flows to the north for 630 miles through forest and savanna into the Atlantic Ocean.

On location (time of season dependent), our guest anglers will be presented with a diverse and exciting range of fishing landscapes including enticing sand bars, wild rapids, extensive rock gardens, deep catfish holes, tranquil lakes, and secluded lagoons, each of which provide incredible angling and species opportunities, guaranteed to stretch the string of any adventure angler.

THE CAMPS

Each camp is set up under shade trees, providing a great view of the river to wake up to. The 'safari-style kitchens' supply our guests with wholesome camp cooking and a communal area serves to provide the perfect area to discuss the days catches, plan the next day or to just relax and take in a cold drink.

For welfare, the camps are equipped with flushing WC's and a shower area, both of which provide privacy away from the main camp.

Whilst camp life is basic, it is also comfortable and homely, with individual tented accommodation providing safe and secure sleeping arrangements. Laundry is done daily, providing fresh sheets and towels. The camps are run by our Amerindian partners who are always on hand to help, and there is a 'host' from our team there to support you throughout the trip.

Food is predominantly local and is plentiful. Guests will have three good meals a day and there is always an ample supply of water, soft drinks, and beer, all maintained at a chilled temperature in the on-camp freezers. The camp staff are always focused on your welfare, but please listen to them, they know the environment and are there to help. They will also be your guides whilst fishing and they know the waters and watercraft intimately, but that should not stop you from asking to explore different waters or to try something new....

THE FISHING

TRAVEL ADVICE: Do not forget your jabs. Visit your GP at least three months ahead of travelling to gain the best advice about your trip. In the UK? Boots the Chemist also provide this service.
