“The John Robert ‘Rob’ Baker Memorial golf Tournament was a success! This event was the first tournament the Council had done and the event had 57 participants with approximately 14 teams. John Recke as Grand Knight and Kateri Baker as Auxiliary President did a fantastic job in putting this tournament together.” - paraphrased from Martha Recke, via Newsletter Editor David J. Hinkle

OK guys...this is how ya do it!!
Kateri Baker

The Knights of Columbus corporate Communion is held on the last Sunday of every month. The Knight's attend 8:am Mass. We March in as a unit, receive Communion, march out and we attend breakfast at a local restaurant after Mass. This is a good recruiting tool for the Knight's. We should all make every effort to be at this celebration. Arrangements for seating in the church are easy to increase.

The Family and Knight of the Month are honored at this Mass. They did a lot to win this award and we should be there to Honor them. There is strength in numbers and a good showing at this Mass can only help. We need to grow. This is a good tool for that purpose. We will be in Regalia for the October Mass. Please plan to make this a monthly happening.

Altar Servers are also needed for this Mass. You will be given training. Many Knight's were altar services in their younger days. Bring back some old memories. You will only have to be a server once a quarter if we get some new members. We need a replacement for Bert Sandvoss to run this program.

Please give your Grand Knight a call for either position (alter Server or Monitor)

That's all for this Month, see you at the Corporate Communion.

May God Bless You and Your Family.

Fraternally Yours,
John K. Recke, G.K.

DEACON'S TEACHING ARTICLES

Why Can't Non-Catholics Partake in the Eucharist?

by Deacon Christopher

St. Paul's warning about receiving the Eucharist improperly should give all Christians cause for reflection: "Therefore whoever eats the bread or drinks the cup of the Lord unworthily will have to answer for the body and blood of the Lord. A person should examine himself, and so eat the bread and drink the cup. For anyone who eats and drinks without discerning the body, eats and drinks judgment on himself." (1 Cor 11:27-29).

In light of this and other scriptural passages, the Church obliges Catholics to make sure they are properly disposed to receive the Eucharist before approaching the altar. For example, they must not receive Holy communion in a state of mortal sin. But truly the Body and Blood of Christ, believing it to be just a symbol, should also refrain from receiving Communion. To use the apostle's own words, they would be eating and drinking "without discerning the body" properly, placing themselves in danger of judgement.

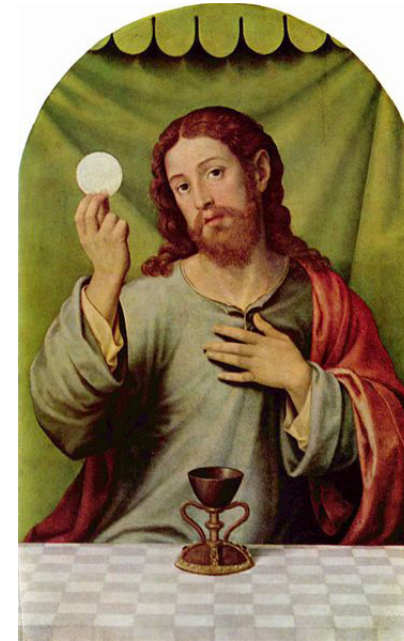

This is one reason why non-Catholics, Protestants in particular, should not partake in the Eucharist in a Catholic church: They typically deny that it is truly Christ's Body and Blood. But the Church insists that even Protestants who believe what the Catholic Church teaches about the Eucharist should not normally approach the Catholic altar for Communion. The reason for this restriction is suggest by other words from St. Paul:

"The cup of blessing that we bless, is it not a participation [or fellowship] in the blood of Christ? The bread that we break, is it not a participation [or fellowship] in the body of Christ? Because the loaf of bread is one, we, though many, are one body, for we all partake of the one loaf." (1 Cor 10:16-17)

The Eucharist thus signifies an openness to faith, life, and worship among those who partake of it. So reception of the Eucharist by those separated from the Catholic Church is in a sense dishonest. It implies a unity that does not yet exist. (A few exceptions are allowed for pastoral reasons in extraordinary situations; see the Catechism 1401.)

In the meantime, the Church urges us to pray fervently that all Christians might finally "attain to the unity of faith and knowledge of the Son of God" (Eh 4:13).

In next month's issue we'll look at: Why is the Catholic Church Unique?

2. Levels of competition are:

- Level 1: Grades 5 and 6

3. The Spelling Bee competition for all grade levels beyond the school competition will be oral on a missed and out basis. School competitions may be written or oral.

5. Words will be pronounced according to the diacritical markings in the dictionary specified in rule number 4.

6. If the word has two or more accorded spellings only the spelling set in bold face type and separated by the word "or", are in some cases the words "also" at the beginning of descriptive matter, will be accepted as correct. 8. A contestant may request the pronouncer to pronounce the word again, define it or use it in a sentence. When the judges determine the word has "been made reasonably clear to the contestant," the judges may disqualify any contestant who ignores a request to begin spelling.

9. Having started to spell a word a contestant may stop and start over, retracing the spelling from the beginning, but in retracing there cannot be any changes in spelling. If any letters are changed or given in a different order, the speller will be disqualified. It is suggested that there be a recording of the spelling contest to aid the judges.

10. When a contestant misspells a word the error will be called immediately and the contestant is eliminated from further competition. The next word on the pronouncers list is given to the next contestant.

11. When the contestants are reduced to two [2], the rules change. When one contestant misspells a word, the other contestant shall be given the opportunity to spell the same word. If the second contestant spells the word correctly, plus the next word on the pronouncers list, then the second contestant shall be declared the winner. If the second contestant misses the word, the first contestant will be given a chance to spell the same second word, and if spelled correctly, along with the next word on the pronouncers list, the first contestant will be declared the winner. If both spellers misspell the same first word, both shall be given a new word to spell.

12. The order in which the spellers are eliminated from the competition determines his or her position as a finalist.

13. Only judges or contestants may ask for a replay on a misspelled word. Rechecks must be requested prior to leaving the contestant seating area.

14. The Pronouncer will have a word list prior to the competition and the word list will be provided to the chairman and all of the judges.

15. Once competition begins all contestants must put away any practice word lists that they may have in their possession.

16. All competition levels should have a tape recorder and public address system in good working order. {Two tape recorders are recommended}.

17. So that the contestants are able to concentrate during the competition it is requested that all spectators remain seated until after each round has been completed. All participants who have been eliminated and others may leave at this time. If actions of children are distracting, parents of the children should be requested to take them from the room where the spelling competition is being held. No pictures will be allowed during the contest except by the Knights of Columbus official photographer for that level of competition. Please have all cell phones and pagers on silent mode or off.

18. Any protests or challenges must be raised prior to the completion of spelling for that age group. Protests or challenges will not be heard after the age group concerned has completed its spelling. The decision of the Judges is final.

These rules are adapted from the Official National Spelling Bee rules.

“Be faithful in small things because it is in them that your strength lies.” ~

With that said, the next few months are full of big things with some small things thrown in.

Get your tickets for one of the most important event our Assembly will have this year. Come enjoy the celebration of honoring our Veterans at the Veterans

We are also scheduled to march in the Milton Veterans Day parade November 11th. Come in regalia, military uniform, or not. Please come and join us.

Hopefully someone with a better memory will come to the next meeting because we now have to vote on three Sir Knights of the months. Plans for the Milton Christmas parade are forging on. We will need four Sir Knights in front of float and about four in the float throwing candy. (Tootsie Rolls??) We are planning on having a Keep Christ in Christmas sign made to place at traffic light at Park Ave and having it in the float.
