Grand Knight's Report

Michael Stafford

I hope that you all had a good Thanksgiving and were able to spend time with loved ones and friends. You know what comes next - Christmas, right? At least that is what the secular world wants us to believe. Time to get out and get those special gifts - hurry before they are gone. Well, not so fast. Yes, Christmas is coming but right now we have just entered the season of Advent and a new Liturgical year. The Advent wreath is up at Church and looks great. I don't mean to launch into a lecture or a sermon but I do ask "can we carve out some time for Jesus each day?" St. Rose is giving us a nice Advent book to help us do that and an opportunity for confession at the Advent Reconciliation Service at 7:00 PM on the Tuesday the 6th of December. Why not attend an additional mass during the week on Wednesday evening at 7:00 PM? These are just some things to help us stay focused on the real reason for the season.

The Christmas Market and Filipino Food Takeout is taking shape for Saturday the 3rd of December from 11:00 AM to 7:00 PM in the parish hall. We could use some additional help setting up and cleaning up so if you can lend a hand please contact me: 309-453-5860. Thank you. I would ask, too, that you check the calendar in this newsletter for other events.

Have a Merry and Blessed Christmas everyone!

Prayer: Blessed patriarch, glorious St. Joseph, chosen to serve as the father of the Word made flesh, the sorrow which you felt when you saw the infant Jesus born into poverty was turned into heavenly joy when you heard the song of angels and when you saw the glory of that resplendent night. By this sorrow and joy, we ask you to obtain for us that, after the course of this life, we hear angelic songs of praise and rejoice in the splendors of heavenly glory. Amen

Saint Joseph. Pray for us.

Blessed Michael McGivney. Pray for us.

Vivat Jesus

Merry Christmas! To all my brothers and their families, I extend my very best wishes for a merry and a blessed Christmas. As we are celebrating the Christmas season, we give thanks that God sent his Only Begotten Son to live among us and save us! That gift from the Father sets the stage for our giving gifts at Christmas. It seems we say it every year: "It's Christmas; where did the year go?" Seems like a good time to look back on the year and note all the gifts given by you and our members worldwide. As Supreme Knight Patrick Kelly mentioned in his annual report this year in Nashville, Tennessee, we have much to be thankful for and much more work ahead of us. Consider these gifts that SK Kelly mentioned. The Order gave more than $154 million and more than 48 million hours of volunteer service. But those are the big totals. Look at these specifics: we gave the gift of warmth to more than 150,000 children through the Coats for Kids campaign. We gave 8,891 physically challenged individuals the gift of mobility this year through our wheelchair program. We raised more than $19 million for Ukraine support and gave those families the gift of respite at Mercy Centers and Easter packages. RSVP gave the gift of financial support to nearly 5,900 seminarians or postulants. And we had more than 450,000 members give the gift of life through donating blood. These are gifts that change lives. Real people, real individuals benefited from these gifts. As I consider Christmas I think of the gift of support and encouragement that you have given me. I appreciate the opportunity to work with you and your families this past year and I look forward to a new year and renewing connections with you. Again, a very Merry and Blessed Christmas!

Deacon's Teaching

By Deacon Chris Christopher

Start of a new Liturgical Year

We've just begun The Season of Advent which starts a new Liturgical year by preparing for the rebirth of Christ in our lives. As Christmas is not a moveable feast, it always falls on December 25. Thus, Advent begins on the fourth Sunday prior to Christmas Day, or the Sunday which falls closest to November 30; it lasts through Christmas Eve, December 24.

Advent is followed by The Christmas Season, which starts on Christmas Eve and ends on Epiphany. This season reminds us that Jesus became one of us to show us the way to heaven.

Advent, from Latin adventus, "coming", begins the period of preparation for the celebration of the birth of Jesus Christ at Christmas, but also, of preparation for his Second Coming! Some hold to three comings of Christ, the third one being his presence among us now through the Sacraments, through the Bible, and through the worshipping community, During Advent, we are encouraged to prepare ourselves to worthily celebrate the anniversary of the Lord's coming into the world as the incarnate God of love. We are to make our souls fitting abodes for the Redeemer coming in Holy Communion, and through grace thereby prepare ourselves for His final coming as a judge at our death and at the end of the world.

Traditionally, all great feasts were preceded by a time of fasting in preparation for the eventful, joyful feast. The Advent season's liturgical color is violet, a color associated with penance. Advent, however, is not as strict as the penitential season of Lent. Although there are no rules for fasting, the season is meant to be a period of self-preparation. The color violet reflects sorrow as the faithful await the arrival of the Savior, just as Judaism is still awaiting the arrival of their messiah.

Celebrating Advent involves spending time in spiritual preparation for the birth of Jesus. Originally, though, it was not the coming of the Christ-child that was anticipated, but his second coming! Although most Christians celebrate December 25 as the birthday of Jesus Christ, few in the first two centuries of Christianity claimed any knowledge of the exact day or year in which he was born. However, that does not deny the fact that the Incarnation did occur.

The readings of Mass on the four Sundays of Advent have distinct themes:

- On the First Sunday, they look forward to the Second Coming of Christ (the Parousia – an ancient Greek word meaning presence/arrival/official visit).
- On the Second Sunday, the Gospel reading recalls the preaching of John the Baptist who came to "prepare the way of the Lord".
- On the Third Sunday (Gaudete Sunday) the Gospel reading is again about John the Baptist.
- On the Fourth Sunday, the Gospel reading is about the events involving Mary and Joseph that led directly to the birth of Jesus.

The Advent Wreath. The Advent wreath plays a significant part in the season's liturgy during Mass. It is often circular, representing God's eternity. It has four candles representing each Sunday of Advent which are lit accordingly in rotation. As this is a season of preparation, the liturgical color is violet and thus three of the four candles are violet.

The three violet candles represent the penitential nature of the season. However, there is one rose-colored candle that is lit on the third Sunday, Gaudete Sunday. That day takes its name from the Latin word Gaudete ("Rejoice"), which is in the Entrance Antiphon of this day's Mass: "Gaudete in Domino Semper: iterum dico, Gaudete", "Rejoice in the Lord always; again, I say, rejoice."

Gaudete Sunday provides a break about midway through the season, which is otherwise of a penitential character. It signifies the nearness of the Lord's coming to symbolize that joy and gladness in the promised incarnation as well as when Jesus will come again. The candles on the wreath symbolize hope, love, joy, and peace, and are lit in that order.

After saying that Advent wreaths contain four candles, it is now customary to include a fifth candle. It is white, representing the Light of Christ for whom the season is dedicated, and is placed in the center of the wreath. This candle is known as the Christ candle and is lit during the Christmas Eve service.

No Baby Jesus during Advent. As a visual aid for the importance of this season, a Christmas creche is usually set up in front of the altar, but you'll notice that there is no infant Jesus in the creche. The obvious reason is that we are in spiritual preparation for his incarnation, therefore, he hasn't yet arrived! He will be placed in the creche at Christ's Mass on December 25.

We've Got It Backwards. Unfortunately, we seem to have this great Christ Event a bit backward. Advent today has been usurped by "the Christmas shopping and partying season," so that by the time Christmas Day arrives, we are ready to take down the Christmas tree, put all the decorations and wrappings away, and carry on with life. Whereas, if we adhered to the biblical sequence of events, we'd celebrate the Incarnation on December 25 and mark the next 12 days of the Christmas Season (Christmas Tide) that lasts until Epiphany when the magi arrive with their presents for the Infant King. That would be the logical time for us to share our presents with each other.

In Conclusion. The focus of Advent should be on the humility of God. - the one who created everything seen and unseen, the one who always was and always will be, the one who humbled himself to become like one of us in the person of Jesus Christ. In our lowly, unworthy state, He didn't come to judge or condemn us, but to be of service to all of us. As St. Paul says, "Have among yourselves the same attitude that is also yours in Christ Jesus, 'Who, though He was in the form of God, did not regard equality with God as something to be grasped. Rather, He emptied himself, taking the form of a slave, coming in the human likeness; and found human in appearance, He humbled himself, becoming obedient to death, even death on a cross.'"<sup>Phil 2:5-8</sup> This is why the scriptures tell us that He shall be called Emanuel, "God is with us".

The message is clear. The Advent/Christmas season is for us to be so grateful for the Incarnation, that we too should strive to give up ourselves for others just as Jesus did in striving to bring salvation and joy to others.

The theologian Henri Nouwen described the difference between mere happiness and joy. "While happiness is dependent on external conditions, joy is 'the experience of knowing that you are unconditionally loved and that nothing - sickness, failure, emotional distress, oppression, war, or even death - can take that love away.'" Thus, joy can be present even amid sadness.

Next month we'll take a quick look at Prayer.

Supreme Chaplain's Challenge

by Archbishop William E. Lori

“For it is through the Holy Spirit that this child has been conceived in her. She will bear a son and you are to name him Jesus, because he will save his people from their sins.” (Gospel for Dec. 18, Mt 1:20-21)

Does the Advent season sometimes seem to be about things other than Christ? Amid breathless advertisements, urgent warnings about the waning number of shopping days and the hassle of making holiday plans, there's a danger that Jesus' birth will be neglected or forgotten. Let's make it a priority to remember what Christmas is about: The Son of God became man in order to die for our sins and rise again, so that we could be freed from our slavery to sin and also rise to new life.

Challenge by Supreme Chaplain Archbishop William E. Lori:

This month, I challenge you to keep your attention on the true meaning of Christmas by setting up a Nativity scene in a prominent place in your home and spending some time in prayer before it each day. Second, I challenge you to assist your council in the Faith in Action Keep Christ in Christmas program.

Questions for Reflection:

How do you “Keep Christ in Christmas” in your own life? Do you practice any Christmas traditions that help you do this? Could you establish any new traditions that will remind you what Christmas is all about?

Auld Lang Syne: What Does It Mean?

Why is it that on New Year's Eve, we sing "Auld Lang Syne," but don't know what it means?

The song contains words from a language of which few of us are familiar, in a syntax that is confusing to most, and is from a poem about friends recalling adventures they had long ago - but had nothing to do with New Year's Eve!

What does Auld Lang Syne mean? Literally, it means Old Long Since, but the syntax is more naturally translated as since long ago or more familiarly for old times' sake. The phrase is in the Scots language, which goes back to the 7th century. A great deal of Scots literature was written in the 15th and 16th centuries, but by the time King James VI of Scotland became King James I of England, Scotland, and Ireland in 1603, the Scottish upper classes had adapted and anglicized their speech and writing in developing Scottish Standard English. But the Scots language experienced a revival among Scottish poets such as Alan Ramsay in the early 18th century and Robert Burns in the later 18th century.

From where did Auld Lang Syne come?

Robert Burns considered the national poet of Scotland, wrote in a combination of vernacular Scots and Scottish English. In 1788 Burns wrote "Auld Lang Syne," which is the title and key phrase of the poem. When he submitted the manuscript to the Scots Musical Museum, he said of it: "The following song, an old song, of the olden times, has never been in print, nor even in manuscript until I took it down from an old man."

The phrase appeared in Scottish songs as early as 1588, but Burns added a few verses of his own to the old song such that the ballad subsequently became a standard song in Hogmanay, the Scottish name for New Year celebrations: "we'll take a cup of kindness yet," and "we'll take a right good-will draught."

In Scotland why were New Year celebrations more important than Christmas?

Hogmanay was an important holiday in Scotland and for a time overshadowed even Christmas in popular observation. Here's why.

Before the Scottish Reformation in 1560, Christmas in Scotland had been a religious feasting day. During the Scottish Protestant Reformation in the 1560s, John Knox brought the teaching back from John Calvin in Geneva. In splitting from the Catholic Church, Scottish Presbyterians and Puritans avoided Christmas celebrations due to their accumulation of various superstitions or because of Roman Catholic practices. Even singing Christmas carols was frowned upon! In 1583 the Glasgow Kirk (church) ordered the ex-communication of those who celebrated Yule.

The Scottish Parliament passed a law in 1640 banning the celebration of "Yule vacations... and all observation thairof." Even the baking of Yule bread was a criminal act! After the Calvinistic Puritan rule of Britain under Oliver Cromwell, and the "restoration of the monarchy" with King Charles II on the English throne, Scotland still did not warm to Christmas for a long time.

Though repealed in 1712, the ban on Christmas Day in Scotland was not technically restored as a public holiday in Scotland until 1958 when it then became a public holiday. As a result, New Year's festivities dominated the winter festivities for centuries.

How did Auld Lang Syne become popular in America?

Scottish immigrants brought it with them, where it took on a more American English spelling. In the 20th century, Guy Lombardo and His Royal Canadians made the song an institution as they performed it on the radio and later in television broadcasts from New York's Times Square as "the ball" dropped each New Year's Eve from 1939 to 1977.

Singing Auld Lang Syne has become a fixture in New Year's Eve tradition. It appeared in movies like It's a Wonderful Life, Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, Oceans Eleven, Forrest Gump, and more recently Elf. It often evokes lifting a glass in toasting friends, remembering the past, and a tear of nostalgia.

While not a traditional holiday movie, the romantic comedy When Harry Met Sally sets up the question about the meaning of Auld Lang Syne at the end of the film. At a New Year's Eve party, Billy Crystal as Harry asks Sally: "What does this song mean? My whole life, I don't know what this song means. I mean, 'Should old acquaintance be forgot?' Does that mean that we should forget old acquaintances, or does it mean if we happened to forget them, we should remember them, which is not possible because we already forgot them?"

Brothers,

I hope that you all had a wonderful Thanksgiving and were able to spend it with loved ones and enjoy the blessing you have been given.

We almost had a quorum at our last meeting. Even though we didn't have enough to have an official meeting we did discuss getting the assembly to move forward. Our next meeting will be held on the 15th of December at 6:00 PM (1800). We are planning on having Chili and hotdogs along with a few beers. I hope that you can be there.

We are still looking at increasing membership by asking our current members to think of 3rd Degree members to consider joining up. We are also still looking at more activities to become involved in to keep the activity level up. As a reminder all suggestions are welcomed.

We are looking forward to having a nice Christmas season and then starting the new year with being more involved with our Parish and our community.

Thank you all for your time and patience as we continue to get an action plan put together.
