Research and Employment Experience

CEO and Community Consultant, Susan Wolfe and Associates, LLC, Cedar Hill, TX. October 2008-present. Founded and manage small, woman-owned, historically underutilized business that provides research, evaluation, grant writing, strategic planning, capacity building, coalition development, customized training, database development facilitation, conference program planning, and other services to non-profits, government, educational institutions, foundations, and for-profit organizations. www.susanwolfeandassociates.com

Evaluation Specialist, University of Washington, Seattle, WA. October 2017-present. Temporary part-time position with the National Network of Libraries of Medicine (NNLM) Evaluation Office (NEO) for evaluation of the NNLM's community engagement initiative in partnership with the National Institutes of Health (NIH) All of Us research program. Develop and implement the evaluation of the NNLM's community engagement initiative. Serve as a resource and provide technical assistance to NNLM libraries and members to evaluate implementation, processes, and outcomes for NNLM's All of Us community engagement.

Senior Consultant, CNM Connect, Dallas, TX. May 2015-August 2017. Provided program evaluation, data analysis, data visualization, coaching, training, capacity building, and consultation services to non-profit and government organizations. Worked with a team to design and implement data visualization services using SAS Analytics Pro and SAS Visual Analytics. This service, provided to nonprofit organizations cleaned, formatted, analyzed, and visualized their evaluation results in a customized portal. Revised and updated curricula and materials for workshops, certificate programs, and institutes to teach program planning and evaluation to nonprofit staff. Played a key role in initiating and building new evaluation services department by developing services, processes, and procedures; writing successful funding proposals; and assisting with screening and hiring staff.

Analyst IV, Fort Worth Independent School District, Fort Worth, TX. April 2009-March 2010. Evaluated district initiatives and grant funded programs for a large urban school district. Projects included evaluation of pay-for-performance school improvement initiative, middle school summer enrichment program, and services to homeless students. Designed evaluations for grant proposals, prepared training materials, responded to ad hoc data requests, and participated in other departmental initiatives.

Program Analyst / Technical Leader Grade 13, US Department of Health & Human Services, Office of the Inspector General, Office of Evaluation and Inspections, Dallas, TX. November 2002-April 2009. Developed research designs and data collection instruments, selected samples, collected and analyzed data, and wrote reports that synthesized information from disparate sources to logically, clearly, and concisely convey relevant findings and practical recommendations for DHHS programs. Prepared and conducted briefings of senior government officials. Project leadership includes supervising and training program analysts and interns for data collection and analysis. Technical leadership includes responsibility for overseeing organization and analyses of large datasets. Participated on the work planning and national training conference committees.

Program Manager, Parkland Health and Hospital System, Dallas, TX. December 1998-October 2002. Managed Dallas County Rape Crisis Center, Infant Intervention Program for pregnant and postpartum substance abusing women, and a prenatal and parenting education program for pregnant adolescents. In this role I engaged in program development, ongoing services evaluation, hiring and supervising staff, participating in community coalitions, developing and monitoring budget, and grant writing. Served as the principal investigator for the “Babies First! in Dallas” program evaluation where I successfully designed and implemented a random controlled trial design to compare two models of home visiting and parenting support with a control group that received standard pediatric care.

Graduate Research Assistant, University of Texas at Dallas, Richardson, TX. January 1995-December 1998. In this temporary, graduate student position I assisted with an NICHD-funded longitudinal study of adolescent family and peer relationships (Duane P. Buhrmester, Ph.D. Principle Investigator). I planned and coordinated research assistant training and data collection, developed measures, selected and supervised undergraduate research assistants, supervised videotaping of adolescent peer interactions, analyzed and interpreted data, and prepared research results for presentation and publication.

Independent Evaluation Consultant, McKinney, TX. January 1995-December 1998. I maintained an independent consulting practice to supplement my income while I completed my Ph.D. My contracts included serving as the Dallas Healthy Start local evaluator; and analyzing data and writing the report for evaluation of the Michigan Modernization Service. I was the principle investigator for a minority adolescent risk behavior study funded by Planned Parenthood; and served as the evaluator for Youth and Family Impact Center program funded by the Family Preservation Act and a program sponsored by a multi-agency coalition. As an evaluation consultant I prepared reports of evaluation results and presented them to Federal, State, and local officials.

Director of Research, Dallas Child Guidance Clinic, Dallas, TX. July 1993-December 1994. I was hired to initiate a new research department. In my role as research director, I assisted with design, implementation, and coordination of clinic research projects; collected and analyzed data to be used in planning, evaluation, grant writing and publications; wrote program and research grant proposals; developed evaluation protocols for programs; coordinated the quality assurance program; identified potential funding sources; and networked with the greater mental health services provider community. My position ended due to budget cuts.

Project Director, Research Group on Homelessness and Poverty, Department of Psychology, Wayne State University, Detroit, MI. (formerly at the State University of New York at Buffalo, Buffalo, NY). December 1991-June 1993. Directed a National Institute of Mental Health funded longitudinal research project to follow 500 homeless adults in Buffalo, NY and 300 homeless adults in Detroit, MI (Paul Toro, Ph.D. Principle Investigator). To implement and direct this large research project, I supervised and trained graduate and undergraduate students; developed research design and measurement instruments; monitored and planned the budget; coordinated data collection and participant follow-up; analyzed data; wrote reports; networked with agencies in the local homeless provider community; and developed grant proposals. I also served as principle investigator and implemented and directed a cross-sectional, comparative study of homeless and housed adolescents in Detroit, MI.

Assistant Director, Department of Research, Dallas County Community College District, Dallas, TX. September 1989-January 1992. Provided research support to seven community colleges and the district office. Designed and implemented research projects and surveys, analyzed data, supervised staff, wrote grant proposals, and prepared reports. Successfully secured funding from the State of Texas to conduct a statewide study of community college student tracking systems and provide technical assistance for implementation of computer-based systems. Used Geographic Information Software (GIS) to re-draw district voting lines for elections of the Board of Trustees. Prepared reports and presented results to Chancellor, college presidents and other officials.

Associate Researcher, Research Assistant, Industrial Technology Institute, Ann Arbor, MI. October 1987-August 1989. I was hired to review and summarize academic and technical literature for a National Science Foundation funded book on technological innovation, and I assumed lead authorship on the chapter on decision making and technological innovation. I also participated on a team that developed criteria for computer assisted design system adoption for major corporation, worked on team developing a learning center concept for major automotive corporation; and provided simulation training game for major corporations preparing for change.

Research Coordinator, Research Associate, Oncology Project Coordinator, Research Assistant, Hurley Medical Center, Flint, MI. January 1984-October 1987. As a Research Coordinator and Research Associate, I assisted the Director of Research to design and implement research projects, developed and implemented evaluation plans for a state-funded domestic violence intervention project and hearing impaired substance abuse program, conducted needs assessments, and supervised and trained research assistants. As Oncology Project Coordinator I coordinated oncology research projects and facilitated manuscript preparation for publication, including design, implementation, data analysis and report writing. As an undergraduate intern and then hired research assistant, I collected data for failure-to-thrive and child abuse prevention projects.
