Donated items from club members

FLEA MARKET SUCCESS

By Ellen Hwang, Angels Times Editor

What a success for Music Angels Hands (MAH)! Members of MAH took part in hosting a flea market Saturday, Oct. 28 at Clavier Music School.

Numerous contributions were donated. Overall, around $745 was raised from this event, which is over double the amount of money made compared to last year's yard sale, which was $300. With the egg order fundraising, fig jam drive and yard sale, a total amount of $1,056 was collected just from this month.

[SUCESS, from A1]

Bustling customers drove in and out of the parking lot, buying a multitude of products from the diverse range of objects for sale from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m..

During the process, club participants monitored the stands and assisted the customers.

Advertisement was done through a "Flea Market ←" sign, held up by different people every 15 minutes on the side of the road that entered into the parking lot.

Items including clothes, toys, books, bicycles, heaters and even a TV were put out on top of tarps and tables to be bought. Furthermore, mason jars of fig jam, a donation from one of the MAH members, were displayed for customers to buy.

The weather was sunny with a cooling wind, and snacks were distributed to those who bought an item from the market.

All members worked arduously throughout the five hours of opening. With diligent teamwork and collaboration, they were triumphant in having another victorious event!

All in all, Music Angels Hands would like to thank their members and the parents for being able to make this flea market possible.
