GPM2 is a Chartered architectural and building surveying practice based in Kent with offices at Quex Park, Birchington, on the North Kent coast. As a practice with architects and building surveyors we offer full architectural, interior design, master planning, urban design, building surveying and party wall surveying services for both the public and private sectors. We provide client focussed architectural and building surveying services, specialising in educational and healthcare projects. Our range of completed projects includes private houses, residential developments, offices, retail, schools, libraries, hospitals and the extension and conversion of historic buildings. Our buildings do not have a recognisable 'signature' style. Instead, our design is based on the individual requirements to each site, context and the client's brief.

We aim to provide an imaginative, sensitive response to each project and have successfully achieved planning consent on numerous projects with difficult planning histories. Each project is led by a Chartered Architect or Chartered Surveyor from inception to completion to ensure continuity of brief and design intent. We cooperate closely with our consultants and clients throughout the project. We have worked with a wide variety of clients ranging from individuals to large development companies and our client portfolio includes Kent County Council, Various NHS Trusts, various local authorities, schools and colleges. GPM2 projects have been shortlisted for several awards this year including the Kent Design and Development Awards, Build 2018 Architecture Awards and the RICS Awards South East.

Business Consultant

I have been an accountant since 1986 and started my own practice in 1994. This gave me a unique insight into many different businesses, and I often found that the ones succeeding were pretty much following the same formula.

As my business grew, I took on the right team which freed up my time. With that time, I went into various other businesses, applied the skills that I had learnt, grew them, made them highly profitable and then sold them off. I then focused my time back into the accountancy practice where I bought out three other firms of accountants and then merged with another. After this, we purchased one other firm and I then decided that I should retire at 51 years of age.

However, I found that at 52, I missed being in business and started to help a few clients in several areas:-

- Business growth
- Succession planning
- Selling and buying of businesses

I will only ever work for 6 clients at any one time as it gives me the perfect work/life balance that all business owners are seeking. I am also selective who I will work for, there must be a good relationship between us to get the best results.

My unique blend of experience, expertise and empathy equips me to guide you effectively. My extensive knowledge base, coupled with a proven track record of success, offers invaluable insights and practical advice. My empathetic approach fosters trust and open communication, enabling you to share openly and grow comfortably.

My dedication to understanding your individual needs ensures tailored guidance, maximising your potential. Moreover, my commitment to ongoing learning ensures relevance and adaptability in my mentoring practices.

Overall, the combination of my skills and experience makes me the ideal mentor for nurturing your growth and success.

I believe in taking a customised approach to each of my clients. I work closely with you to understand your unique needs and challenges, and develop solutions that are tailored to your specific situation and goals.

I have a limitation on the number of clientele I work with at a time to ensure my support remains the quality which I promise to deliver.
