First May 15 update

Saturday, May 14, 2022

After 10 pm, the electrical power shutdown on the south wall of the room, where the plug-in internet router, the lights, and other devices are stationed. On the west wall, electrical outlets were alive, and they could operate.

Sunday, May 15, 2022

Observed the procedures.

1. The power strip with six outlets still held the on position.
2. The Judahite pushed the power button, not knowing if the button was on or off. Regardless, an electrical sound came from one of the devices. The sound indicated the device was turned off. The Judahite looked at the internet router and saw no lights.
3. What happened? The off-button shut down operations. What? The current was still flowing.
4. The paradox. When pressing the on switch, an electrical sound came from one of the devices.

A person with electrical knowledge would better understand what happened. The Judahite gives a descriptive account. The electrical power source was frozen or overpowered by a superior energy source.

The On and Off Switch

On level one, Saturday, the switch held the on position.

On level one, Sunday morning, the switch still held the on position. The Judahite changed the function to off.

On level two, the current stopped flowing.

On level one, returning to the on position, the current started to flow in one second.

On level two, the current is re-set and starts to flow again. As a different expression, the prime energy source was dialed down for the manufactured electrical current to flow again.

Overall, the prime message is the illustrative acknowledgment of the pending directive to shut down power and electronic devices on the appointed day.

On the other hand, those who desire to seek alien technology of the unnatural occurrence should do so. Never expect a man to replicate the technology because the technology can be scalable from a room to a building, from a block to a city, from a state to a national region, and from a country to a global area at the same time.
