

Niger Stands Under the Grace of Prophecy.

On December 26, 2023, The Judahite received from the Second Heaven the announcement of Niger's approval to receive energy and developmental resources to chart a new future with tribal Judah America or the Executive Body of Israel in Exile.

Niger made it in time, before the expiration date on December 31, 2023. The Pledged Allegiance Referendum to Yahawah (the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit) results were sufficient for the Court of Heaven to recognize the approval of Niger to integrate with the end times prophetic Regathering Movement.

QUESTION. Does Niger's favorable standing guarantee all the citizens will be saved and enjoy the full blessings that have been promised? No! Many will continue to honor deities and oppose the New Testament. Thus, the people's loyalty to the devil will continue, and those who voted for the referendum will eliminate those who voted against the Referendum in the interest of progress.

Thinking back over seventeen hundred years, the people in that region started to serve many gods and culturalized the practice of sorcery, enchantments, the serpent god of West Africa, magicians in precept, and divination as components of their civilization due to the East and West slave trade that removed Judah from the land, the mainstay of obedience to Elohim. Once Judah departed, the reflective lights of God's mercy no longer had a mirror; thus, darkness fell on Africa. Remember, Moses and Arron defeated all Africa's deities and dark religious practices three thousand years ago. Moses was very knowledgeable of all the religious systems in Africa. Since Moses' days, the essential core of paganism has admitted nothing new because the same principality is still in charge.

A new start. The referendum on Pledging Allegiance to the Gathering Movement enables those believing in Yahawah to separate from those who will never embrace the New Testament of Jesus. In the future, natural resources will become of secondary importance. Yes, secondary importance—never to occupy the determinant position for profit-making. The most important priority is repentance, no longer giving allegiance to devilish worshiping practices. The Allegiance is, to the end times, the Gathering Movement's prophetic principles to re-establish Judah and Israel.

A misplaced notion

Niger is an impoverished country. Yet, Niger has natural resources. However, it is an erroneous position to place faith in natural resources to catapult the making of a new society. On the one hand, holding the natural resource banner for national salvation is understandable for several reasons. On the other hand, those who have Pledged Allegiance to the Executive Body of Israel in Exile will reject the importance of natural resources as a fallacy; education can show the larger picture. As such, the number one priority is designing a paradigm to educate the old and young perpetually. Mt. Zion is where Judah will teach planetary spiritual science to sustain life for millions of years as we look outward into the future from Mt. Zion and Jerusalem.

Being educated, we will never forget that once natural resources become subject to mining and processing, the entropy law holds a sword over the neck of society. What will society do once the essential natural resources are depleted? The question has been raised in theoretical discussions, leading to the diversification of energy resources, like windmills. The alternatives still fall short in conformity to the Gentiles' plans.

Consider the background of the earth's geological formation that followed a layered pre-designed distribution of minerals worldwide. In some parts of the world, minerals, gems, and precious minerals are more easily mined than in other areas. The point: Africa's minerals and elements are found in other parts of the world in varying quantities and qualities. So, overall, the low cost of mining determines where international companies will sign contracts.

Moreover, new technologies determine where companies will mine regardless of production costs and global location; if a particular rare miner is needed to advance new technologies, investors will fund any operation because they are guaranteed a handsome return.

Following the Aspirations of the New Order (the Stone Kingdom)

Vs.

Adopting models belonging to the Prince of Darkness. (Steal, Kill, and Destroy)

In general, civilization has moved to the next level. Jacob's Tithing-blessing is no longer available to the Gentiles as it once was. Additionally, the New Commonwealth of Israel requires the daily use of new economic mathematics. The old pattern cannot and will not follow tents associated with the IMF, World Bank, and other Financial Institutions. The Judahite has a different model. Still, the way forward is not to piggyback on Gentiles' economic and financial models; doing so will be fatal. Yet, on all levels of global commerce, only a few can see beyond imperialism.

The fourth and last Gentile's social system is over. Yes, this is correct, though everyone sees daily business as usual. However, the current reality should be seen as a complicated economic system with many different sub-systems shutting down, but not at the same time. Or, as another analogy, water is still in the pipeline, but the water source has been cut off—only a matter of time for the pipes to run dry.

As a new economic global foundation, the Stone Kingdom requires productive members to inherit Judahcratic values. The Stone Kingdom doesn't recognize democratic traditions and will never accept them as they belong to the Gentiles' science of political economy.

Notice

Niger is the first to stand under the grace of the Second Heaven. The Judahite received notification of Niger's standing in the end times Gathering Movement from the Magistrate Court of Heaven. As such, the Executive Body of Israel in Exile will give Niger the necessary attention for a new placement in the regional economy.

The Executive Body of Israel will work with other qualifying countries with the stamp of approval from the Second Heaven by time-phasing them into the new regional formation. No longer will territorial boundaries be recognized as assigned by the era of colonialism.

Steps are now being worked out for the different phases of new construction. Updates are coming.
