

November 8 Interlude

The Month of Tabernacle Arranged November 8 Interlude for Review in the Progression Toward November 25.

In the United States of America, the November 8 midterm elections determine which political party will control either the Senate or the House of Representatives. Or both.

There have always been periods in American midterm elections where the political stakes have been deemed very high, wherein the winner controls the legislative agenda. November 8 is no different from other periods in that each party is determined to defeat the other party, motivated by the desire to always establish only one dominating party.

A milestone in America's elections came with the election of Obama.

As viewed by The Judahite, campaign elections took an irreversible downward turn in public indecency and acrimonious discourse. Since then, the election forum has cemented itself in the format of entertainment and personalized antagonism. MONEY. Indeed, a large amount is required to run campaigns. The one having the most money typically has the advantage of sustained attack ads that omit nothing about a person's life and party.

Real issues of everyday living are relegated to secondary importance by giving lip service. Depending on the candidates' level of experience and the quality of staff's credentials, the competent candidates, few in numbers, know not to make economic promises that are next to impossible to deliver.

With economics on the shelf, opinionated social and political views fill the airwaves versus programmed approach to root causes of social issues.

What is new in this midterm election?

A brief introduction to the answer. The Judahite emphasized knowing the particular social laws involved in societal development. We are all part of the evolutionary operational rules of society, ruling out all forms of magic because we are conditioned by what came before us.

As a fundamental feature of the Selma Movement, the Black Reconstructionist gave the ex-slaves the kernel of participatory democracy, the pre-character of America in actuality.

The Selma Movement used the 1865 Black Reconstructionist seed to mature the global character of America's democracy.

As said before, Europeans' sociological background is deeply rooted in monarchism, the divine right of nobility, which today has constitutional protection under the American Constitution. Thus, all forms of black political expressions to ease social oppression in the 60s and 70s contributed to developing all aspects of Judah's participatory democracy.

The Selma Movement introduced the South to the meaning and purpose of the American Constitution and its amendments. Thanks to the NACCP, its lawyers had to teach federal judges, most of whom never read the Constitution, how to understand the framework of constitutional law.

The 1965 Voter Act gave America her constitutional identity. Indeed, it is pleasing for The Judahite to see voters standing in mile-long lines to cast their ballot. Even so, the fight to diminish the effect of the black vote has never ceased.

The Ten tribes and Judah cast ballots like everyone else to bring results on matters that mean the most to them. Still, blacks have continued to come up short on political promises.

Jacob-tithing-blessing has expired. COVID-19 has forced new realities in America. Most cannot see a bright future, for those who do harbor illusions about going back to yesteryears.

Abrahamic Covenant links U.S. Presidents to Judah's role in the Middle East.

According to the Scriptures, The Judahite voted for Trump to be his envoy for service of process. When President Trump arrived in Jerusalem, he announced The Judahite's prophetic jurisdictional authority over Israel.

- After President Trump returned to Washington DC, his administration was no longer beholding to The Judahite's mission vote. He served his purpose for The Judahite with nothing more expected.
- On election night, the Magistrate of heaven declared Biden the winner. To confirm, the moon stood still for over three hours before The Judahite.
- In July 2022, President Biden visited the Middle East to certify the nations that will fall under Judah's jurisdictional right in the Abrahamic Covenant to take possession of all lands represented by those attendees at the conference. Like Trump, Biden performed his mission and no longer beholding to the directive of the Court.

November 8, the Lunar eclipse/Blood Moon signaled Biden's prophetic mission is nearing the end. For the first time in American history, historic, a Lunar eclipse occurred on November election night. As you were called to do, touch all the bases President Biden.

The Executive Body of Israel will take over the implementation phase.

The Results of the midterm elections

The Judahite and the Executive Board of Israel's course of action are predefined, making it impossible to reverse Jeremiah's Seventy-year prophecy and the birth of the Man-child.

Therefore, logically, America will fall regardless of historical perspective because Judah has the task of evolving the Commonwealth of Israel, which demands all the earth's resources in the interest of the Stone Kingdom.

Finally, a word about the midterm elections: The Judahite will incorporate a few prophetic aspects as he relaunches Judah's participatory form of governance.
