Babylon is fallen &
The Sweetness of Life Pledge fulfilled.

Babylonian and the Chaldeans are presented as united yet subject to different judgments. In origin, the Babylonian Empire incorporated a religious doctrine that involve astrological deities as a state religion known as the Chaldeans. State religion is the focus of attention. For example, during the Holy Roman Empire, the Pope approved of Kings to carry out political and military decisions. Consider the Church of England, it has the same ideal with a different outward presentation.

At the time of King Nebuchadnezzar, the Chaldeans, an occult power center, managed the Empire as the wise men because they learned the signs in the sky and of the heavens, telling of earthly problems.

Contrary to the notion about the Assyrians and Babylon empires of antiquity existed in separation, the gods of Egypt and Sumer were of one religious system despite different geographical divisions and kingdoms.

Very few people asked questions about the divine drama and theatrics of Babylon during the time of Daniel. The book of Daniel is clear in presenting historical facts. Nothing herein is being added, only giving appropriate points of emphasis.

Like many kings before King Nebuchadnezzar, he assumed the Chaldeans possessed an exclusive right to know everything. Truly, they knew everything about giving timely warnings to kings that adversely affected intertwining interests, permanently preserving their power center within government.

Yahawah demonstrated to Daniel and the King that he was superior to all deities known in Sumer and Egypt.

Knowing and not knowing, the Chaldeans could not retrieve the King's dream from his memory bank. Because they could not, the King ordered the Chaldeans killed. Daniel requested a stay within the hour of execution, which the King granted.

To kill all was an outrageous act of political suicide. Yet, the King was willing to commit political suicide. As seen throughout history and today, Kings and government officials, under self-illusions, accept personalized death invitations from the devil to be killed or murdered.

The enduring antagonistic relationship between the Chaldeans and the Judahites.

1. Daniel and his three associates told the King about his dream and interpretation. By doing so, Daniel and his three associates defeated the Chaldeans universally.
2. To get back at Daniel and his three associates, they conspired against the three associates, leading to a fiery furnace drama. Cosmic and universally, the fire killed some of the Chaldeans as they were making the fire seven times hotter.
3. The King decreed people disrespecting Daniel's God in public would be killed. For the first time in history, the Chaldeans were constrained under statutory control by death.
4. The King of the Chaldeans hosted a global conference in Babylon where he elevated himself above Daniel's God by taking the Temple of Jerusalem's religious utensils for secular partying to his gods.
5. Belshazzar, King of the Chaldeans, knew about Nebuchadnezzar's decree granting statutory retribution to offenders of Daniel's God. Yet, he committed political suicide, motivated by being the King with the right to select which laws to enforce. The Magistrate of heaven issued the sentencing ORDER on the wall for all to see, telling the King and the Chaldeans divine laws are beyond them and will be enforced.
6. Continuing with the organic dynamics between the Judahites and the Chaldeans, Daniel became the third king of Babylon. And within an hour, the King was executed.
7. Conspiratorial by nature, the Chaldeans ensured all their bases were covered for putting Daniel away once and for all—death without being implicated. Under the Medes and Persian Empire, they planned Daniel's demise carefully and perfectly executed. They ambushed Daniel, knowing he would break their law by going to his room to pray, which landed him into the lion's den.
8. Again, the organic dynamics between Daniel, the Judahite, and the Chaldeans illustrate Nebuchadnezzar's decree, a divine law, is enforceable to the third and fourth generations.

The Chaldeans' Core Competency is Conspiratorial

When studying the Babylonian Chaldeans, we see the conspiratorial practices under a law against the Judeans. The same core competency under the Medes and Persian Empire grew into a coherent system, the ideal to take legal wealth generated by tribal Judah for their own use in the service of their gods.

The IDEAL in composition involves the prosecution of Daniel under national law by the lawyers, who are wise men. Restudying Daniel's episode in the lion's den, we see the time when the Chaldeans consolidated their core competency of ruling through secrecy.

Thus, Jeremiah prophesized against Babylon and the Chaldeans. He knew the Chaldean Ideal oppressive instruments against Judah would be fully understood through the exposition of Daniel in the lion's den. Like in the past, today, the Chaldeans have the attached divine curse of liquidation when in conflict with Judah.

Today, all affiliated forms having relations with the Chaldeans will be liquidated, as seen when Daniel departed the lion's den. As foretold by Jeremiah, we know what to expect.

In conclusion, the Chaldeans' Ideal (archetype) is against TABERNACLE. Had Daniel's removal been affected, the Temple in Jerusalem would not have been rebuilt due to CORRUPTION: because the Chaldeans would have used their managerial control over kings to divert funds into their pockets. The Kings would never have learned about their subsystem of stealing monetary wealth.

Daniel and his three associates put a financial system into place that generated wealth to fund the rebuilding the Jerusalem's Temple, the city of Alexandria, Egypt, and the Roman Colosseum.

October 31 Brings Joy to Judah and the Ten Tribes in direct Proportion to the deconstruction of the Babylonians and the Chaldeans.

The sweetness of life

Financial growth.

- Dignity of labor implies a future reward.

The sweetness of life

Inspirational Joy removes depression.

- Reap the fruits of one's labor.

In combination with the above, The Judahite received dramatic illustrations summing up October 31 as accurate and solid completion.

As illustrated, several topics can be touched on, but only two for now. The good news is that Headphone25 is solid. What occurs on November 3 will continue to roll non-stop toward realization.

Our future is in creating the Commonwealth of Israel.

Consider the given illustrations:

- “They brought us back some fruit they found there and reported that the land which the LORD our God was giving us was very fertile.” Deuteronomy 1:25

The Virtues of a Noble Woman

She considers a field and buys it. With the fruit of her hands, she plants a vineyard.

Case No.: 11122

DECLARATORY JUDGMENT AGAINST BABYLON

“Her plagues will come in one day, pestilence, grief, and famine; she will be consumed by fire. For mighty is the Lord God who judges her.” Revelation 18:8

October 31, 2022

“I, the LORD, will plead thy cause, and take vengeance for thee; and I will dry up her sea, and make her springs dry.” Jeremiah 51:36

The Order Per Jeremiah Chapter 51

1. A destroying wind will arise against Babylon.
2. As planned, devised ambushes are now in motion against the inhabitants of Babylon. The Watchman on the wall sees the meaning of the Executive Body of Israel and is transmitting information to the British establishment of its coming demise.

3. The LORD's righteousness manifests in Zion, Judah, which declares the LORD's operational judgment against Babylon in the stated categories.
4. Israel inherited the Lord's rod. As the LORD's battle axe and weapons of war, Israel will
1) shatter nations. 2) destroy kingdoms. 3) shatter missiles and airplane bombers. 4) shatter armor tanks and all mobile vehicles carrying and delivering weapons. 4) shatter men and women. 5) shatter the young man and the maid. 6) shatter the shepherd and his flock. 7) shatter the farmer and his oxen. 8) shatter military officers and government officials.
5. "And I will render unto Babylon and to all the inhabitants of Chaldea all the evil that they have done in Zion, Judah will witness their recompense), saith the LORD."

6. Nothing left.

Nothing will remain while the LORD's stretched-out hand over Babylon and the Chaldea because the stretched-out hand will trigger the rocks to roll down on the governments in the combination of missiles and asteroids. No building materials will be left to use in new construction, just like in Sodom, Gomorrah, and the surrounding cities.
