Customers rave about how well she blends in with their staff and really works as a team to make sure that residents are receiving great care. She is professional, reliable and always on time. Jess, thanks for all that you do!

Congratulations to Jaimie!

Congratulations to Jaimie for earning her Certification in Healthcare Staffing from the American Staffing Association. Here is information about the credential Jaimie earned:

Staffing and recruiting professionals working in the health care sector now have the opportunity to truly differentiate themselves in this increasingly competitive staffing industry vertical.

The Certified Health Care Staffing Professional program features rigorous content focused on employment and labor law at the federal level for health care staffing and recruiting professionals. It is the essential credential for health care staffing professionals, certifying their expertise to work with both employees and clients within the bounds of federal laws and regulations.

Developed by a team of attorneys, leading staffing firms serving the health care sector, and professional development specialists, the CHP credential is by far the most comprehensive and sector-specific credential available to industry professionals right now.
