

Dr. Micheal S. Pardue, Sr.

During the past few years, I have come to regard Micheal, not just as a student, but as a personal friend. His oral and written communication skills are strong. Micheal is one of the most academically gifted students I have ever encountered. His critical thinking skills are superb. He has a broad knowledge of many different subject areas.

Greg Lawson, Ph.D., J.D., Ed.D.

Professor,
Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary

I have found Micheal Pardue to be a man of character who is knowledgeable of his field. He relates well to those he teaches. As his former professor, I recommend him highly.

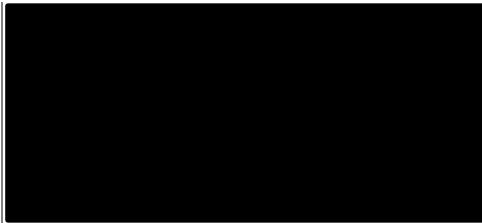

Larry S. McDonald, Ph.D., D.Min.

Associate Provost and Dean,
North Greenville University

Micheal has a delightful family and a host of friends both in and out of the ministry which testify to his ability to work with and relate to individuals in any number of circumstances and stations in life.

I have known Micheal for over fourteen years and have great respect for him. He is a man of great passion and integrity. I have seen him grow and mature as a person and pastor. He has shown himself to be faithful to the Word of God and a defender of the faith. I highly recommend him to you.

David Jendrey, D.Min.
Associational Mission Strategist,
Green River Baptist Association

As a part of our Doctor of Education Program at Southeastern Seminary, Micheal Pardue has made significant contributions to the overall academic success and teamwork of his cohort. Micheal is a diligent and dependable scholar and supports his classmates in a variety of ways to encourage their best effort. He consistently expresses keen insights related to the disciplines of education, church ministry, and leadership.

Ken Coley, Ed.D.
Director of Ed D Studies,
Southeastern Baptist
Theological Seminary

By God's grace, Micheal is seeking to be a faithful disciple of Jesus Christ, as well as a faithful husband, father, and pastor. I have personally witnessed him in all of these areas. Micheal understands that the call to ministry is a call to prepare and study. He has a heart for the local church and for Biblical scholarship.

Micheal is a committed pastor, evangelist, and educator. Micheal is a committed and driven individual. He has achieved much in his personal and professional life. He is a senior pastor; he is a part-time professor; he is an author; he holds a terminal degree; he serves his state convention; he is the husband of a God-fearing wife; and he is the father of seven children (some by merger and some by acquisition). The fact that Micheal would adopt biracial kids at a young age, while serving as a pastor in a mostly white denomination in central Appalachia speaks volumes to me. When you stop to think of what Micheal has accomplished in just over 30 years, it is extremely impressive. I jokingly tell Micheal that I want to be like him when I grow up, even though I am a decade his elder.

Travis Bradshaw, Ph.D.

Instructor,

Micheal has an excellent reputation as a pastor...he is consistent, faithful, hardworking, and a visionary... Micheal is a highly creative individual and students will appreciate all he will bring to their pursuit of higher education. I can say without reservation that Micheal Pardue will uphold the highest educational standards. His skill level will enhance any class he teaches. He will make you proud!

Dr. Pardue and I have served together since 2017. He has demonstrated a tremendous academic, theological, and relational aptitude. His teaching experience and pastoral experience provide a unique balance of experience between the academy and local church. It is that experience that makes him a tremendous asset and experienced leader. He is a thoughtful pastoral theologian who is doctrinally sound, family-oriented, teachable, and passionate about higher education and the local church.

P. Adam McClendon, Ph.D.

Micheal has never ceased to impress me with his commitment to excellence and his desire to learn yet more. He possessed all the qualities that a teacher hopes to find in a student: he was hard working, organized, responsible, energetic, punctual, and driven. And despite these accolades for a former student who I now include in my circle of friends, I have come to believe that the prime attribute that sets him apart from his peers is his Godly character. He is a man full of grace and kindness, always ready to serve, always ready to love.

Dr. Pardue is a man of sterling Christian character with a great love for the Lord and the Lord's people. He is intelligent, articulate, highly perceptive, and dedicated. He possesses a positive disposition, a warm and reflective way of dealing with people, and all of the character traits of a master teacher. I have found him to be dedicated, passionate, enthusiastic, and cheerful. He is highly organized and has a passion for missions and for teaching and preaching the Word of God. I highly recommend him without reservation or hesitation as a high caliber leader.

Ed Yount, D.Min.

Pastor Emertius
Woodlawn Baptist Church

I had the privilege of meeting Micheal Pardue in 2010. We studied together at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary together. During that time, Micheal proved to be a man of character with a passion for people and scholarship. Micheal personally served me on a number of occasions, giving me a very important example of what it looks like to be living for the Great Commission. The mission is people and Micheal showed me that our walks with Christ are measured by how we serve others in love and truth. In addition, I know of few people who have studied at SEBTS with the academic commitment that is exhibited in Micheal's life. Our studies are a stewardship from the Lord Jesus Christ, and Micheal models faithfulness in those studies better than anyone I know, always giving his best and presenting to the Lord and his professors the highest quality work.

Expository preaching is a rare find among contemporary preachers today. With the constant push for the practical and relevant men have lost confidence in the sufficiency and eternal relevance of God's Word. This is not so with Dr. Pardue. His preaching is a refreshing feast for the famished pilgrim. Dr. Pardue is diligent in his explanation, illustration, and application of the biblical text of Scripture. His objective is to say what God has said to the contemporary audience with as much dynamic force as it was said to the original audience. He is a faithful expositor of God's Word.

Phillip Bray, D.Min., Ph.D.

Pastor,
First Baptist Church

Micheal has been a great brother and friend in ministry, both academically and professionally. His scholarship is faithful and a great asset to the church, for it flows from a heart that is passionate for shepherding the people of God and leading them to walk with Christ Jesus each day. His pastoral ministry is marked by an emphasis on connecting God's Word to God's people so that he may make disciples who carry the gospel everywhere they go. Micheal would be a great asset to any ministry who seeks a leader with a heart for the gospel and God's people!

In the nearly seven years I have known Dr. Pardue, I have seen him in action as a capable scholar, courageous leader, faithful pastor and a sound expositional preacher. Most importantly, he is a godly man, loves his family well, and is a good friend. Though he's already accomplished more than most at his age, there is a humility to Pastor Micheal that is remarkable. He is truly a servant leader who views leadership not merely as a way to influence others, but to enhance their ministries and grow them as leaders themselves.

Dustin Mace,
Pastor,
Buffalo Baptist Church
Shelby, NC

There is one word that characterizes Micheal Pardue and it's the word faithful. He's faithful to his family, church, students, and faithful to the Word of God. Pleasing God is his singular focus. He is one that the Lord will say on that Day, well done my good and faithful servant!
