

Lauri Williamson

Author • Cultural Historian • Speaker

ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Lauri Williamson is the author of 111 Places in Black Culture in Washington, DC That You Must Not Miss and the founder of DC Tours & Events. A cultural historian and dynamic storyteller, she creates immersive experiences that celebrate the stories, people, and places that shaped Black Washington, DC. Her work has been featured on WUSA9's Great Day Washington, and she is known for making history engaging, meaningful, and unforgettable.

SIGNATURE SPEAKING TOPICS

- Hidden Black History of Washington, DC
- From Book to Bus: Turning History Into Immersive Experiences
- Writing Black History for a General Audience
- The Cultural Power of Place
- seeing the City Differently
- Preserving Stories Before They're Lost

AUDIENCE & FORMATS

Book festivals, libraries, museums, cultural institutions, conferences, panels, universities, and community organizations. Formats include keynote talks, moderated conversations, panels, and book discussions.

MEDIA & CREDENTIALS

- Featured on WUSA9 – Great Day Washington, and local cultural shows & publications
- Author: 111 Places in Black Culture in Washington, DC That You Must Not Miss
- Founder: DC Tours & Events
- Howard University alum

BOOKING & CONTACT

Email: explore@dctoursandevents.com
Phone: 202.603.9209
Website: www.dctoursandevents.com

Facebook:
Instagram:
YouTube:

