About Us

Phase II Adult Reentry Training Camp is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization based out of Memphis, Tennessee. Phase II is a reentry program designed to lower the recidivism rate through education and training. Alarming research has shown that over 43% of ex-offenders in the United States will eventually return to prison continuing a never-ending cycle of poverty and violence that is plaguing millions of Americans today. Phase II believes in the possibilities of Rehabilitation and that every ex-offender deserves the opportunity to turn their lives around and become productive and worthy citizens.

More alarming are the most recent statistics that have shown that the United States has over 2 million people incarcerated and the highest population of inmates in the world. In fact, Tennessee alone has a recidivism rate of 47.1% percent, meaning that almost all offenders that are released from jail or prison are more likely to re-offend.

Phase II aims to spearhead that change by offering ex-offenders the opportunity to rehabilitate in an environment that is dedicated to helping to restructure the ex-offenders by not only providing career and educational opportunities but by placing an emphasis on restructuring the mental and emotional well-being of these individuals

Phase II Adult Reentry Training Camp Community Service & Outreach Program

Phase II Adult Reentry Training Camp provides community service hours as a requirement in completing the 12-month program. Phase II participants must complete a total of (30) hours (4) hours per project day for the duration of the project time set. Bi-monthly, Phase II will work as a group to provide community service in the neighborhood as well as volunteer with local agencies.

The purpose of “Community Service in the Neighborhoods” is to rebuild relationships while providing meaningful services in neighborhoods where crime and arrest occurred. This process is set in place to simply start the process of changing the way we view our neighborhoods. Our goal is to re-introduce the ex-offends and the community together that has the full capability of being restored, appreciated, and loved. Although we are not going to solve every issue at hand or save every life that we serve but our mission is to lower the recidivism rate through education, training, mental health and job security and most importantly, a second chance for a new beginning. With these five core elements, Phase II aims to bring a sense of acceptance and a healthy community.

The Brantley Project

In Memory of Mrs. Ruth C. Brantley

Mrs. Brantley was born on March 3, 1927 in Rutherford, Gibson County. Mrs. Brantley graduated in 1943 and was known as one of the first black woman to further her education where she attended Lane College in Jackson, Tennessee.

In 1944, Mrs. Brantley united with the St. Paul C.M.E Church where she was a member for 70 years. In 1947, Mrs. Brantley was initiated into Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and dedicated 70 years of Sisterhood.

Objective: Phase II objective is to restore the home where Mrs. Ruth C. Brantley resided at 670 Hays Street in Jackson, Tennessee. Mrs. Brantley dedicated her life purpose by providing essential services in the community that she served through education.

Project 670: Project 670 is a restoration project provided by the men and women selected by Phase II. This project is in honor of the “Late Ruth C. Brantley who was a educator in the Gibson and Madison County School District for more than 50 years.

End Goal: Phase II will work hand and hand to recreate the home that Mrs. Brantley lived in and turn the home into a viewing house for the community and abroad. The Jackson community will have the opportunity to learn about Mrs. Brantley by highlighting the life history and legacy that she left behind. Our goal is to not only highlight her legacy in education but we will highlight her legacy as an “AKA Sorority Sister”. Inside the home will be the coloring of the AKA Sorority colors along with pictures, documentary information that many families can share within their families. Mrs. Brantley was a woman that cared for others and now is the time that we celebrate her legacy for our youth.
