Commanders Report

Greetings to the members and friends of the R. M. Gano Camp,

Since we last met the National Convention was held in Franklin Tennessee and Paul C. Gramling, Jr. of Shreveport Louisiana was elected Commander in Chief. Congratulations sir! Our camp participated in its first Adopted Trail Clean Up. We had our first Officers Call. The next monthly meeting planned for August 21st will feature a review and ratification of our camp constitution please try to make this meeting as we need your input. If you have not already done so, please be prepared to pay your dues to Adjutant Hearrean at the meeting. Also, please consider volunteering for the upcoming Grapefest and Weatherford Flea Market Recruiting Tent.

I look forward to seeing you on the 21st at Bone Daddys.

Confederately yours,
Craig (Hoss) Stone
Commander

2nd Lt Commanders Report

I hope this newsletter finds you well and in good spirits. The recent rain we have had was much needed and hopefully we will be able to receive more.

We are looking forward to Commander Kirk Barnett of the R.E. Lee camp #239 to give us another one of his great programs. He always has good presentations.

I have been very busy this past month in dealing with some of the items left to us by Dan Hays passing. He had many books and records. I feel it is important to take some of these items and provide them with a good home rather than end up in a trash bin.

We have already been offered some donations for some of these items. He had a lot of cook books which we can donate to the OCR to use in their gift baskets.

Floyd Cox was able to have the Civil War Museum take the old K. M. Van Zandt camp flag for safe keeping.

We had an officers meeting today and with cooler weather just around the corner, we will see an increase in camp activities. I will assist Commander Craig Stone in listing the upcoming activities in the next newsletter.

Also, the officers are considering having a Brigade Christmas party. Please be thinking about this and let us know what you think.

Respectfully,
Kyle Sims
1st Lt. Commander

Chaplain's Corner

Problems come in all sizes, and everyone has them-some even have lots of them. The reason we have problems is that we know more ways to get into trouble than to get out of it. It would be wonderful if all our problems could happen when we are eighteen years of age, for that is when we know everything. According to the Bureau of Standards in Washington, a dense fog covering seven city blocks to a depth of 100 feet is composed of less than one glass of water. That amount of water is divided into about 60 billion tiny droplets. Yet when those minute particles settle over a city or countryside, then can almost blot out everything from you sight.

Many of us today are living our lives in a fog. We allow a cupful of troubles to cloud our vision and dampen our spirit. Anxiety, turmoil and defeat strangle our thoughts. Our lives are being "choked by the cares of this world" (Luke 8"14). But "God has not given us a spirit of timidity, but of power and love and discipline" (II Timothy 1:7). Why be fogged in when you can live in the sunshine?

Dr. William Mitchell, in his book, Winning in the Land of Giants, mentions five possible ways of thinking about a problem:

Curse it. Those who do this dwell constantly on the negative aspects of their situation. In other words, they make it worse, perhaps even many times worse, than it was originally.

Nurse it. There is an old Ozark story about a hound sitting in a country store that constantly howled. A stranger who came into the store asked the store owner why the dog was howling. "He is sitting on a cocklebur." "Then why doesn't he get up?" "He'd rather holler." Some people are like that hound. They constantly focus time and attention on the problem itself rather than trying to find a solution.

Rehearse it. By replaying the problem over and over in their mind, they find it increasingly more difficult to think about anything else. Dark clouds are always on their horizon. They wallow in their chosen misery daily, and in so doing they make everybody around them as miserable as they are.

Disperse it. A technique used in tackling scientific problems is to break them down into their component parts, and then to work at each part until an answer is reached. Solving the component parts of a problem one after another can, and often does, lead to solving the problem as a whole. This principle will also help us to solve the problems we face in life. If you are facing a problem, maybe even a major problem, why not break it down into smaller parts and deal with each part one at a time?

Reverse it. Accentuate the positive. No problem or circumstance is one hundred percent bad. There is always a glimmer of hope, some ray of light. Recognize the negative aspects of the problem for what they are-distractions that keep you from finding a solution. Dismiss the negativity. To ignore a problem in the hopes that it will go away only makes finding a solution even more difficult. Throwing negative thoughts in the trash can and facing the problem honestly and forthrightly always leads upward, not downward.

To this I would add one more resource for solving life's problems. Why not carry any and every problem to God in prayer, knowing that He loves you and I and stands ready to guide and strengthen us?

King David know what to do when he found his back squarely up against some wall of difficulty, and he faced lots of them. He cried out to God in prayer, "I will take refuge in the shadow of your wings, O God, until the disaster is passed" (Psalm 57:1, NIV).

Camp 2292 News - Adoption of a Trail

SCV Camp 2292 and OCR Chapter 64 have adopted a section of a trail in Grapevine. This bike/pedestrian trail will soon have signs with our camp and chapter names on them posted on each end of the trail. This is just another way to give back and get our name out there.

OCR and SCV members picking up trash on our adopted trail. Thanks to Billy and Jennifer for making this happen for our group. Also thanks to Sean and Christy for their help and friendship.

3rd Brigade commander Calvin Allen has asked for more camps to participate in the recruiting table at the Weatherford First Monday Trade Days. Lots of great shopping also.

Next Upcoming Trade Days when the 3rd Brigade might have a booth:

A Update from the Virginia Flaggers

Over the weekend, we increased our Monument patrols in preparation for expected activity by antifa, black lives matter, and other agitators, expected to use the anniversary of the Charlottesville rally as an excuse for vandalism.

Friday night, we had 8 Monument Guards on duty throughout the night, and several Monument Avenue residents who came out to join us. The Capitol Police had a heavy presence at the Lee Monument and Monument Guards also reported increased patrols by the Richmond Police at the other monument sites. We maintained coverage until dawn both Friday and Saturday nights. Dawn Sunday morning found all monuments safe and secure. Our Monument Guards again reported a heavy police presence and working closely with them, received words of thanks and appreciation from both law enforcement and Monument Avenue Residents. It was truly a team effort and we cannot say enough about the great job the State Capitol Police and the Richmond Police Department did in providing extra coverage at the monuments all weekend.

I am truly amazed at the dedicated group of people I am blessed to call Va Flaggers. Patrols out all night on Monument Avenue all weekend, and still checking in at dawn. God bless and keep the #RVAMonumentGuards !

Camp 2292 needs volunteers for this as several of our camp members will be at the River Run on the weekend this event takes place:

We will talk more about this at next meeting. Thank you!

A Note to Grandfather

*I didn't choose to become a member of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. . .
My ancestor made that decision for me many years ago.*

Dear Great Grandfather:

I am writing to beg your forgiveness. I have done a terrible thing. I had no intention of letting these matters get out of hand, but they did. I pray that you will forgive me and ask the Lord for guidance in these troubled times. See, back only four or five years ago, there was still support for things Confederate and for the fond memory of men like you. There were organizations in place to defend your good name and remember the good deeds you had done, and to honor the sacrifices you made. But I like others failed to support them and now it is too late. Now the Battle Flag is outlawed in public. You cannot find one in school or town. There are no Southern Crosses flying on flagpoles anymore. I could remember a few years ago they were flying on city, county, and state government buildings. Very few even dare to keep them at home for fear of losing their job or being arrested. We now have a state-approved flag which is more universal. All flags for states who were once proud of their Confederate heritage have been changed.

They have renamed all the streets, counties, buildings, and schools that once honored the brave men of the CSA with names of contemporary leaders. The monuments that once graced the courthouse lawns and parks have been taken to the museum. In fact, there is only a small part of the museum now dedicated to the Confederate sacrifice. It is not a positive exhibit. Your men in gray are labeled as criminals and traitors.

There are no more references to Confederate veterans in the local cemetery. The stones have been modified to erase any commentary of that war service. As I mentioned before, because of the ban on the Southern Cross, we can no longer place the dear flag on your final resting place.

The school kids can't play Dixie in the band any more. The school board says it is racist. I guess we must live that because they don't know the words anyway. We are having a tougher time even finding things about the War unless they are published in the North. Our county library had to remove all the Southern history and Southern culture books because they were judged as harmful to children. The textbooks that are in the schools pretty much defame you and all the veterans for being hateful, nasty Rebels.

I am sorry for letting things get the way they are. The politically correct revisionists are a carry-over from the carpetbaggers and scalawags of your time. They have most of the country now believing the lies of the North. I could have done more, but I really didn't think my inaction would allow this to happen.

See Grandfather, I could have flown the Flag at home. I could have gotten more involved in the heritage organizations. I could have marched in parades, worked as a volunteer in schools, contributed a few hours and a few dollars when an SCV/CSA project was promoted, but I didn't. I should have checked on the kid's textbooks ever year and offered corrections to the errors. I should have stood up against the lies. I could have written letters or spoken to politicians. I should have gotten my family, friends and neighbors involved. Every time some group called the Confederates racists or traitors. I should have stood up and done something. I did not, and I failed you.

I was too busy. I did not think my participation was really important. I did not like some of the men who were leading us. I now know that I was wrong. It is all gone because of my sloth, apathy, uncooperativeness, and unwillingness to give a little time or money for the Cause.

I should have thought about all your sacrifice and the sacrifice of thousands of other Confederate veterans. I lost focus of what ya'll gave for the Cause, instead of thinking selfishly, only of myself. Had I done something four years ago before things really got bad, there would still be honor for you and myself. Now there is nothing left of the Confederacy or your good name. I fumbled that away and not only for you and me, but for the generations to come.

I hope that when I leave this earth and we see each other face-to-face, you will have some pity on me and forgive me for the awful job I did as a Son of a Confederate Veteran.

A Confederate Menu

A subscriber to The Confederate Veteran sent in this menu of Confederate days, the original of which was printed on wall paper just prior to the end of the siege of Vicksburg, July 4, 1863, and was picked up by Col. R. J. Redding during a sojourn in that city. It is interesting to note the straits to which the army commissariat was reduced as well as the humor which never failed under the most adverse conditions.

Hotel De Vicksburg, Bill of Fare for July 1863

Soup: Mule tail.

Roast: Mule sirloin; mule rump, stuffed with rice; saddle of mule a la armee.

Vegetables: Boiled rice; rice hard boiled; rice any way.

Entrees: Mule head, stuff a la Reb; mule hoof, jerked a la Yankee; mule ears, fricasseed a la getch; mule side, stewed, new style, hide on; mule liver, hashed a la explosion.

Side Dishes: Mule Salad; mule hoof, soused; mule brains a la omelet; mule kidneys, braised on ramrod; mule tripe on half (Parrott) shell; mule tongue, cold a la Bray.

Jellies: Mule foot, three to a yard; mule bone a la trench.

Dessert: White Oak acorns; Beechnuts; Blackberry leaf tea; Confederate Coffee.

Liquors: Mississippi Water, vintage 1492, Very Superior, $3.00; Limestone Water, late importation, very fine, $3.75; Vicksburg Bottled, $4.00.

Meals at few hours. Gentlemen to wait upon themselves. Any inattention in service should be promptly reported at the office.

Twelve Eggs

One Pound Butter

One Glass of Wine

One Pond Sugar

One Pound Flour

Cream Butter, then stir sugar into the butter. Separate the eggs, beat very light.

Mix in the other ingredients. Bake very slow.

Editor's note: I don't know what wine she used, recommend red/sweet. Use pound cake tin and bake at 325-350 degrees and use toothpick to test for doneness.

Trivia Time

Answer to Question 1: Emma Sansom aided General Nathan B. Forrest

Answer to Question 2: “This Confederate company joined the regiment on May 4th, 1861. They were smarter than most soldiers when they signed up. They suffered 100% casualties in their advance on the Brian Farm during Pickett’s charge. If that wasn’t enough, this regiment was honored in the twentieth century by having an opera written about them. The University Greys (or Grays) were of Company A of the 11th Mississippi Infantry. Their name “University Greys” derived from the gray color of the men’s uniforms and from the fact that almost all the Greys were students at the University of Mississippi. Nearly the entire student body (135 men) enlisted; only four students reported for classes in the fall of 1861, so few that the university closed temporarily. The story of the University Grays is memorialized in an opera composed by Dr. Arthur Kreutz who was Professor of Music at the University of Mississippi using text from the book of the same name by Zoe Lund Schiller. The opera was last performed in 1961 by the Department of Music at the University of Mississippi.”

August Trivia

Who is the only United States president ever laid to rest under a flag other than that of the United States?

Who did both Northern and Southern soldiers call the “graybacks”?

I was born in 1838 in Tippah County, Mississippi. I was the youngest of 12 children. All my sisters and some of my brothers died young. My father died before I was born. I share the same last name of a famous Civil War General. I was killed in action on February 22, 1864. At the time of my death I had reached the rank of Colonel. Who am I?

Sons of Confederate Veterans
 "DEFENDING THEIR HONOR SINCE 1896"
 www.scv.org ★ 1-800-MySouth

What is the Sons of Confederate Veterans?
 The citizen-soldiers who fought for the Confederacy personified the best qualities of America. The preservation of liberty and freedom was the motivating factor in the South's decision to fight the Second American Revolution. The tenacity with which Confederate soldiers fought underscored their belief in the rights guaranteed by the Constitution. These attributes are the underpinning of our democratic society and represent the foundation on which this nation was built.

Today, the Sons of Confederate Veterans is preserving the history and legacy of these heroes, so future generations can understand the motives that animated the Southern Cause.

The SCV is the direct heir of the United Confederate Veterans, and the oldest hereditary organization for male descendants of Confederate soldiers. Organized at Richmond, Virginia in 1896, the SCV continues to serve as a historical, patriotic, and non-political organization dedicated to ensuring that a true history of the 1861-1865 period is preserved.

CHARGE TO THE SONS OF CONFEDERATE VETERANS

“To you, Sons of Confederate Veterans, we will commit the vindication of the cause for which we fought. To your strength will be given the defense of the Confederate soldier's good name, the guardianship of his history, the emulation of his virtues, the perpetuation of those principles which he loved and which you love also, and those ideals which made him glorious and which you also cherish.”

Lt. General Stephen Dill Lee Commander-General United Confederate Veterans New Orleans, Louisiana 1906

Remember, it is our duty to see that the true history of the South is preserved and presented to future generations.

Until we meet again, let us remember our obligations to our forefathers, who gave us the undeniable birthright of our Southern Heritage and the vision, desire and courage to see it perpetuated.
