Commanders Report

Greetings to the members and friends of the R. M. Gano Camp,

As summer comes to a soggy close, like most of you I am both looking forward to the events and cooler weather of fall, but also thinking about the sacrifices of the brave Confederates that were lost in the Battle of Sharpsburg on Sept. 17, 1862, the deadliest day in American history. Speaking of events we have several events coming up over the next few weeks and I hope you will take the opportunity to join us at either Grapefest on the 14th as several camp members will be in New Braunfels for the Mech Cav River Run that weekend we still need volunteers. On the 29th we will be presenting the Advancing the Colors Award to Saljos in Pantego. Then following weekend October 6th there will be a living history event at the Confederate Reunion Grounds in Mexia. As always I hope to see you at these events and at this month's camp meeting. This month we have J Pat Baughman as our guest speaker. See yall Tuesday at Bone Daddy's.

I look forward to seeing you on the 18th at Bone Daddys.

Confederately yours,
Craig (Hoss) Stone

2nd Lt Commanders Report

Gentlemen and ladies:

Its time to gear up for some more activities as the weather cools down. As mentioned in the Commanders report, we are going to meet at Sal Jo's located at 2229 W. Park Row in Pantego, Tx. to present the owner with a Confederate Battle Flag. He is going to display our flag in his restaurant which will qualify him for the SCV Forwarding the Colors award. I would also like to see him become a "Friend of the SCV" because he is already displaying Gen. R.E. Lee's General Order #73 in his restaurant. Many of you already have this poster. He has framed it himself and has it on the wall.

I would like to meet on Sept. 29th approximately 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. for lunch and sometime around 2:00 p.m. present him with the flag and Certificate once he gets us all fed. He has excellent Italian food so please bring family and friends and we will have a great time.

All SCV members are invited and he has also offered us the restaurant on a Monday or Tuesday Night in December for a Christmas party. He will shut down and let the SCV have the entire restaurant so it is imperative that you let us know what you think of the restaurant so we can start making plans.

I look forward to seeing everyone at the meeting and also, at Sal Jo's on the 29th of Sept.

Respectfully,

Kyle Sims

1st Lt. Commander

How I Lost and Recovered My Hat

Extracts from the Account by Chaplain J. William Jones

Every old soldier of the Army of Northwestern Virginia remembers the campaign from the Wilderness to Petersburg, when Lee outgeneraled Grant at every point, and, despite his overwhelming numbers and resources, won from him a series of splendid victories. We all remember our life in the trenches, when with starvation rations and an inadequate supply of clothing, less than 40,000 men had to guard forty miles of breastworks and be constantly on the alert against a foe more than four times our numbers and abundantly supplied with rations, clothing, and everything necessary to the efficiency of an army.

The opposing lines were so close together at some places that the penalty of any exposure of the person was death or severe wounds. I remember going one day to the lines just south of the Appomattox to visit my old company (D, Thirteenth Virginia Regiment), in which I had the honor of serving the first year. The lines were so close together that loud talking in one line could be easily heard in the other. There were in the breastwork's immense beams with portholes for the muskets, and iron shutters to protect them when no firing was going on. I was looking through one of these portholes at our "friends, the enemy," fearing that some particular bullet might strike in that particular hole at that time, when a sudden gust of wind lifted my hat and landed it in between the lines. It was a new blockade hat, for which I had invested some $300; but I gave it up at once, as I would not have risked going after that hat for all the hats that ever ran the blockade. I was on my way to the bomb-proof of a friend to borrow a second-hand hat (think of a second-hand Confederate hat in February 1865), when my old comrade, George Hauer, came up and said: "Chaplain, I'll get your hat." His proposition to get my hat was earnestly declined, and I thought that I had dissuaded him from the undertaking and had borrowed a second-hand hat and was about to leave the trenches, when the brave fellow came up with a proud smile and said: "Here is your hat, Chaplain." "Why how did you get it George?"

"Oh, I crawled down the trench leading to the picket post and fished it in with a pole." "Did not the Yankees see and shoot at you?" "Yes, they did," and the brave boy held up his right arm, with which he had worked the pole, and showed a number of bullet holes through the sleeve. He added: "I reckon they would have plugged me anyhow before I could get the hat, but I called out: Stop your foolishness, Yank. I am doing you no harm. I am just trying to get my Chaplain's hat!" A good-natured fellow replied: "All right Johnny, I will not shoot again if you will hurry up and get it before the officer comes with the relief."

Camp 2292 News - Officers Meeting Place and Award Recipient

So this is the restaurant Saljos we had our officers call meeting at. We will present the owner with a Forwarding the Colors certificate and a Confederate battle flag. He loves history especially military history and doesn't seem to care what people think.

Please join us on Saturday the 29th at 2pm to present to him the award. Also get there an hour early to eat some great Italian food. We also are considering having our Christmas party here in December...

These are some pics of the military memorabilia inside:

3rd Brigade commander Calvin Allen has asked for more camps to participate in the recruiting table at the Weatherford First Monday Trade Days. Lots of great shopping also.

Next Upcoming Trade Days will be September 29th-30th. Below are other future dates we might have a booth there:

National News - Silent Sam Terror Attack

The liberal progressive socialist students covered our Silent Sam, a memorial to over 1000 students who went off to war, with a tarp and while the cops stood by and did nothing they climbed up on him and toppled the top statue.

A Update from the Virginia Flaggers - Preparing for Florance

We have already begun preparing and planning for the high winds, severe weather, and flooding that are forecast to reach Virginia this weekend. Our flag site crews will be busy this week removing all 27 Roadside Memorial Battle Flags ahead of the approaching storm.

This is no easy task, and we are thankful for the dedicated men who volunteer to help with this very important work that saves us wear and tear on expensive flags and helps lessen the chance of damage to the poles during severe weather.

The flags will be raised again once the severe weather threat has passed, and our Guardians can safely access the flag sites.

God bless the Guardians of the Flags!

History is important! Come learn in an exciting, tangible way! Watch battle reenactments on Saturday and Sunday afternoon. Visit with historians dressed in period attire. Friday is school day with learning stations focusing on Civil War history, music, pioneer living, the camel experiment with live camels, 19th century artillery demonstrations, clothing of the past, and archeology. Home school families welcome! Contact the CRG for more information! (254) 472-0959

We will be having a Advancing the Colors Award Presentation on the 29th at 2:00pm at Saljo's 2229 W Park Row Dr, Pantego, TX 76013

This is a family-friendly restaurant where we have our camp officers meetings. They serve deep-dish pizza pies, along with pasta, seafood & burgers.

The owner is pro Southern and has a pictures of Confederate generals and general Lee's order number 73 hanging on the walls in the restaurant dining area.

We want to present him with an award and a battle flag to hang in his restaurant and to thank him for supporting us(he already has many military flags hanging in his restaurant).

Please try to make this event and have some great food with us.

Good day brothers. 4th Squad is planning another ride scheduled for October 6th. Plans are to leave Greenville quik trip at 1030 am and ride to Farmersville. When we arrive there will be a planned flag ceremony at the Confederate Soldier monument and then proceed to the IOOF cemetery just down the road to a grave of a Soldier who was in President Jefferson Davis' Presidential Guards. After these ceremonies we will ride the back roads to Big slicks for some fellowship. I hope all can make this ride to Honor these Gentlemen. Please pass this on to your men.

Charlie, "Recruit" to Troup Artillery

By George R. Atkisson, of Carleton's Battery From Confederate Veteran , November 1911

Permit me to pay a loving tribute to a little comrade who often cheered our hearts by his winning ways and shared all our privations and dangers. For forty-six years he has been in his little grave, but today his memory is cherished by his surviving comrades, and whenever they meet some anecdote will be told about 'little Charlie'. On April 24, 1861, the Troup Artillery left Athens. After a brief stay in Savannah, they went to Richmond, Va., and from there to West Virginia under the command of Gen. R. E. Lee. At Staunton in the afternoon of August 1st a little friend came into our camp who made himself sociable with the boys. He was small and uncouth, but showed a genial disposition, and he soon won the friendship of the company. He was invited to spend the night, and a bountiful supper and comfortable bed were given him. The next day when we took up the line of march he signified his desire to become an independent member of the company and was cordially accepted. From that day until Appomattox he was faithful to the company and fondly petted by every member. He endured fatigue and privation without a murmur, participated in every battle in which the company engaged, and was always in the front rank, where the shells and bullets fell the thickest. He seemed to enjoy the whistling of bullets, shrieking of shells, and to go wild with delight as the combat raged. He was too small to take an active part in the work but would dart back and forth from gun to gun, cheering the men with his clear, ringing voice, which could be heard distinctly above the din of the battle. In the body of this little four-legged comrade beat a warm, affectionate heart. We named him "Charlie".

He was not very pretty and boasted of no illustrious pedigree. At Camp Marion, near Yorktown, in December 1861, we had a raffle for Charlie to decide who should be his owner. He was won by Sergeant (afterwards Lieutenant) Motes, but Charlie was independent and refused to be special property. In camp he would select the particular "mess" he wished to spend the night with. At Dam Number One, one of our guns, the Olivia, with Lieutenant Pope in command, was forced to sustain an all-day attack from several of the Federal batteries. The firing began at 8 A.M. Captain Stanley and Charlie were back at the camps. As soon as the captain heard the firing he rushed to the front, and at his heels was Charlie, just as eager as Captain Stanley to take part in the fray, and at every shot would dance and bark with delight.

When we crossed the Potomac, in the Maryland campaign, Charlie was placed on the foremost caisson for safety, the river being too wide and swift for him to swim. As the horses reached the shore, Charlie sprang to the ground, the first one of the companies to reach "Maryland, My Maryland." Here he danced and barked with delight till the last gun had crossed and then gravely took up the line of march with the company. At Sharpsburg, Charlie was in his glory. He ran up and down the line from gun to gun. He would wiggle his little body with joy, while his bark rang out with the roar of battle. He seemed not to know fear, and as the battle grew fiercer so did his joy. At Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Spotsylvania, and in every engagement he was always present and always exhibiting the same wild joy and courage.

When General Lee held the grand review of the Army of Northern Virginia at Brandy Station, Va., prior to the Pennsylvania Campaign, Charlie was given the seat of honor upon one of the caissons and as he passed was honored by a grave salute from the general commanding. Charlie acknowledged the honor by a wiggle of his body (he had no tail to wag) and a loud bark. Charlie was well known to the men of Longstreet's Corps, and frequent effort was made to steal him from us; but he was true to his "first love" and in a few days would find his way back to our camp to be hailed with joy. Charlie was a good forager, and many a rabbit fell a victim to his hunting prowess, to say nothing of a few stray chickens. He brought his game into camp, giving it impartially. During the Maryland campaign he strictly obeyed General Lee's orders, refusing to leave the ranks. When some of the boys would say, "Charlie, go bring us a chicken," he would pay no attention, but jog along with the guns. He looked upon people in Maryland as fiends and refused to steal from them. On the Pennsylvania Campaign, however, he changed his ideas, being on the enemy's side, he plundered. Many a "Dutch wife" lost her chickens and complained: "Captain, von little dog vot belongs to your company steal mine chickens and bring dem to you mens. I wants my chickens, or you pay for them." The captain would reply: "Well, my friend, point out the men with the dog and I will see that you get your chickens, or they will be paid for." Among so many men it was impossible to point out the right one.

During the last months of the Confederacy rations were cooked at camps located at a safe distance. Charlie spent most of his time at the guns, but always went to the camp for his meals. At meal time some one would say: "Charlie, go hurry up supper." With a wise look he would dart off to the camp and make his errand known to the cooks by loud barks and wiggling of his body. If all was ready, the cooks would say, "All right, Charlie, here we go," and away they went. Charlie showing his joy by barking and dancing around the bearers' heels. If meals were not ready, the cook would say: "Go back and tell the boys it will be an hour yet before supper is ready." With a sorrowful look he would sneak back and quietly curl himself up in a dark corner, and the boys knew what it meant. After a while some would say, "Charlie, go and bring supper," but he would not move. At the end of his hour he would go back to camp. "All right, Charlie, supper is ready; let us go." Then his spirits would revive.

Now we come to the last scene. Petersburg is abandoned, and the line of the retreat is taken up. Not an hour is passed without a rain of shells and bullets. Two days before the surrender in a slight engagement a shell struck a tree by which Charlie was standing and exploded, and when the smoke cleared away little Charlie was dead. His grave was dug at the foot of a tree and the body of our faithful "comrade" was consigned to his last resting place.

I can safely write that there was not a dry eye among that group of war-worn veterans as the dirt hid from view his little body. Rest in peace, little comrade! For nearly four years you were our faithful companion and loving pet. You shared our dangers and our pleasures. While your little body lies beneath Virginia's sod, your memory is yet fresh and green in the hearts of every surviving member of the Troup Artillery, Carleton's Battery. I fondly fancy that the trees cast a loving shade, that the winter winds wail less mournfully, and the wild flowers blossom more lovingly over your little grave.

September Trivia Time

The answers to last month's trivia are:

Who is the only United States President ever laid to rest under a flag other than that of the United States? John Tyler. Because the State of Virginia was part of the Confederate States of America at the time of his passing in 1862. John Tyler could be considered the only President not only to have died outside U.S. soil, but also to have been buried there. Additionally, Tyler was the only U.S. President to have a Confederate Flag draped over his coffin.

Who did both Northern and Southern soldiers call the "graybacks"? "Graybacks" was the common name for Pediculus humanus corporis and Pediculus vestimenti or body lice. Union troops used the term to refer to gray coated Confederate soldiers; however, Confederates felt this term was derogatory. It is correct that CSA paper money was sometimes referred to as graybacks; however, the question began with the word "who" indicating that the desired answer would have to be, if not a person, at least a living creature of some sort. That being the case, currency just doesn't fit.

I was born in 1838 in Tippah County, Mississippi. I was the youngest of 12 children. All my sisters and some of my brothers died young. My father died before I was born. I share the same last name of a famous Civil War General. I was killed in action on February 22, 1864. At the time of my death I had reached the rank of Colonel. Who am I? Col. Jeffrey Edward Forrest

This Month's Questions

"Disapproved-Shooters before tooters." Who wrote this endorsement and in response to what request?

We are the largest of our kind, we are three in number, we were favorites of our owners and we are in the South. Who are we and our names.

Bonus: During the Battle of Shiloh, more than 16,000 soldiers were wounded, and many lay in the mud for several days afterward. Some made a better recovery than others. With the help of a mysterious friend, who was not identified until 2001. Those helped by the friend made a glowing recovery. Name the friend.

Only one Confederate medal was struck during the lifetime of the Confederacy. President Davis ordered it to recognize heroics "without parallel in ancient or modern war." To whom was it awarded and for what action.

Bonus: I was originally named Sea King, but when I changed owners, my name changed also, and became quite famous (some would say infamous). I had a very adventurous career, which included such excitement as sailing around the world, being feted in Australia, panicking the residents of the peaceful Pacific Northwest, inadvertently contributing to whale conservation, and finally being turned over to the Royal Navy. I ended my days wrecked in a hurricane after I was sold again to the Sultan of Zanzibar. What was the name under which I became famous?

Sons of Confederate Veterans
 "DEFENDING THEIR HONOR SINCE 1896"
 www.scv.org ★ 1-800-MySouth

What is the Sons of Confederate Veterans?

The citizen-soldiers who fought for the Confederacy personified the best qualities of America. The preservation of liberty and freedom was the motivating factor in the South's decision to fight the Second American Revolution. The tenacity with which Confederate soldiers fought underscored their belief in the rights guaranteed by the Constitution. These attributes are the underpinning of our democratic society and represent the foundation on which this nation was built.

Today, the Sons of Confederate Veterans is preserving the history and legacy of these heroes, so future generations can understand the motives that animated the Southern Cause.

The SCV is the direct heir of the United Confederate Veterans, and the oldest hereditary organization for male descendants of Confederate soldiers. Organized at Richmond, Virginia in 1896, the SCV continues to serve as a historical, patriotic, and non-political organization dedicated to ensuring that a true history of the 1861-1865 period is preserved.

Do you have an ancestor that was a Confederate Veteran?

Are you interested in honoring them and their cause?

Do you think that history should reflect the truth?

Are you interested in protecting your heritage and its symbols?

If you answered "Yes" to these questions, then you should "Join Us"

Membership in the Sons of Confederate Veterans is open to all male descendants of any veteran who served honorably in the Confederate armed forces regardless of the applicant's or his ancestor's race, religion, or political views.

How Do I Join The Sons of Confederate Veterans?

The SCV is the direct heir of the United Confederate Veterans, and the oldest hereditary organization for male descendants of Confederate soldiers. Organized at Richmond, Virginia in 1896, the SCV continues to serve as a historical, patriotic, and non-political organization dedicated to ensuring that a true history of the 1861-1865 period is preserved.

Membership can be obtained through either lineal or collateral family lines and kinship to a veteran must be documented genealogically. The minimum age for full membership is 12, We have Genealogist that can help you for free.

There is no minimum age for Cadet Membership.

CHARGE TO THE SONS OF CONFEDERATE VETERANS

“To you, Sons of Confederate Veterans, we will commit the vindication of the cause for which we fought. To your strength will be given the defense of the Confederate soldier's good name, the guardianship of his history, the emulation of his virtues, the perpetuation of those principles which he loved and which you love also, and those ideals which made him glorious and which you also cherish.”

Lt. General Stephen Dill Lee Commander-General United Confederate Veterans New Orleans, Louisiana 1906

Remember, it is our duty to see that the true history of the South is preserved and presented to future generations.

Until we meet again, let us remember our obligations to our forefathers, who gave us the undeniable birthright of our Southern Heritage and the vision, desire and courage to see it perpetuated.
