What is Right and What is Wrong

Last week I was reading an article about ensuring a hunting future in Texas and the author concluded with a quotation from Michael Sabbeth the author of How To Honorably & Persuasively Defend and Promote Hunting. Sabbeth said: "We shouldn't give others the power to influence us about right and wrong. Right and wrong are not determined by the number of believers. Whether one person disagrees with you or whether 100 million people disagree with you has nothing to do with whether you are right or wrong. Either facts support your ideas and actions, or they do not. Numbers are irrelevant; character and honor are all that matter."

If you do any kind of shooting, be it target practice at the range, or you hunt you know that there are certain rules that you are taught. They are sometimes called the 10 Commandments of Hunting and Shooting Safety. The tricky thing about hunting's unwritten laws (or any ethics) is that they represent moral codes and discussions that may be difficult to corral because of differing backgrounds, beliefs, religions, cultures, nationalities, etc. Most people want to be good, and most hunters want to be honorable and ethical and for them, honoring the animal, the land, the hunting culture, and themselves are sources of pride and self-respect. But to be an honorable hunter, wanting is not enough. Doing good, doing what's right, is the result of several complex thoughts, actions, and character traits.

Aldo Leopold stated, "A peculiar virtue in wildlife ethics is that the hunter ordinarily has no gallery to applaud or disapprove of his conduct. Whatever his acts, they are dictated by his own conscience, rather than a mob of onlookers. It is difficult to exaggerate the importance of this fact."

The reason I began this piece is that the above statements and comments is that they speak to our heritage as Sons of Confederate Veterans. I am reminded of General Cleburne at the Battle of Franklin as he advances against the Union position. Instead of ordering "Charge!" he said, "Follow Me!" Too often I think of General Lee kneeling next to a black man in front of church. I often pick up a volume from my collection of Confederate Veteran Magazine to read accounts and recollections from our old soldiers. Character and honor are all that matter.

Just like our Southern ancestors and soldiers of the South, we today are surrounded by people from diverse backgrounds, beliefs, religions, cultures and nationalities and it seems as if there are those who believe that we are wrong and try to influence others to march against us. Remember what I wrote earlier. Numbers are irrelevant; character and honor are all that matter.

State News Cont. - Response to Ugly Article

This letter was sent by the Texas Division Chief of Staff Shelby Little in response to a negative op-ed by the Ft. Worth Star Telegram.

Dear Ma'am or Sir,

I have seen the video of the SCV participation in the Cowtown Goes Green Parade and read the Opinion piece by Bud Kennedy in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram of 23 March instant. It astounds and saddens me that such an obvious hater of history and the truth should wield such influence over organizations such as yours.

In his article he states:

"A spokesperson for Stockyards Heritage Development Company said that Stockyards businesses support everyone's right to an opinion "but do not condone the soliciting of propaganda or tolerate divisive symbols or flags of any kind." Future events will not include groups "that detract from the goal of uniting the community for the purpose of the celebration," the statement read."

What propaganda? The primary mission of the SCV is to uphold the good name of the Confederate soldier. It isn't too hard. Those soldiers include the 20,000 or so Irishmen who fought for the South, including Major General Patrick Cleburne, born in County Cork, Ireland and for whom Cleburne, Texas is named - honored by the many Texas Regiments who fought in his Division. It also includes the huge majority of former Confederates who owned, trailed, and sold all those longhorns in the decade after the War; the proceeds of which helped fuel the post-war economic recovery of Texas, including Fort Worth. See attached.

What divisive symbols? When it comes to the Confederate Battle Flag (CBF), which I assume that you are referring to, "division" is in the mind of the beholder. We know that it is the flag that most of our family ancestors fought under and was designed early in the War to positively identify Confederate units - the "Stars and Bars" (1st National Confederate flag) too closely resembling the "Stars and Stripes" of the Union forces. Unfortunately, American society at large has been "educated" to believe that the CBF is a symbol of the KKK and traitors. Nothing could be further from the truth and the truth is what Mr. Kennedy, and others who swear by him, have the most trouble with. In the 2019 Supreme Court case of the American Legion vs the American Humanist Association, the Court, ruling for the American Legion, held that the "Offended Observer" could always "avert their eyes" from something that they found repugnant.

Viewing the video of the parade itself, the dispassionate observer would conclude that the SCV entry in the Parade was enthusiastically received by the audience. So, what's it going to be - the lying words of a radically obsessed "writer" or your own eyes?

I request to be furnished a copy of the alleged "statement" from you that Mr. Kennedy has quoted.

No doubt, you can see that the country, including Texas, is turning away from the nonsensical "wokeism" that has infected our society for much too long. I encourage you to step up and reject it here as well.

State News Cont. - Legislative Update

TEXAS DIVISION
SONS of CONFEDERATE VETERANS
OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENCE

Compatriots

Here is your April update on Heritage Defense related Bills introduced for consideration before the 88th Texas Legislature.

We are 95 days into the 140 day 88th Legislative Session. Thus far neither the House or the Senate has taken action or heard testimony before sub-committee concerning any of the bills related to historical monuments or the removal of Confederate Heroes day as a state holiday. The next 45 days will be critical if we are to see any real progress in the legislature toward the removal of Confederate Heroes Day as a State Holiday or passage of a Monument Protection Bill. Key Bills I am Watching Closely:

BILLS FOR REMOVAL OF CONFEDERATE HEROES DAY AS A STATE HOLIDAY

HB 599

HB 51

SB91

MONUMENT PROTECTION BILLS

HB 3279

SB 1560

All of these Bills have been referred to either the State Affairs Committee (Texas House Bills) or the Senate Affairs Committee (Texas Senate Bills) for consideration, but none have yet to appear on the agenda for discussion.

1. Email your State Senator and Representative asking to keep Confederate Heroes day as an official State holiday. You can find your State Representative or your State Senator by CLICKING HERE.
2. I am also working closely with Walter Kennedy, Chief of Heritage Defense to put into use the "One Click" email system. This system will allow you to use your zip code to send an automated email to your State Senator and Representative. More when SCV HQ provides me the information and link for distribution.
3. I am monitoring the Committee Agendas but it looks like we may only get 24 to 36 hours notice before the Bills are up for discussion and public comment. Please be prepared to join me in Austin as soon as we received public notice.

State News Cont. - Confederate History Month

APRIL IS CONFEDERATE HISTORY MONTH IN THE STATE OF TEXAS

Compatriots,

April is Confederate History month in the state of Texas. As an informed compatriot, should someone ask about the holiday, inform them that it was established in 1999 by Texas Senate Resolution and signed by Rick Perry. Every April your compatriots celebrate this month by wearing their SCV logos on their shirts, hats, jackets, and with bumper stickers on their vehicles. Others fly the flag all month in celebration of our history as recognized by the State. Join your fellow compatriots in hoisting your favorite version of our flag at your home, place of business, and on your property.

Your compatriots are active and are standing tall across the state. Click on the link below to see examples of people you know celebrating Confederate History month each week.

During Confederate History Month, think of ways to educate the public about the history of the Confederacy and share it.

For those flag flyers that display the various Confederate Flags daily, thank you.

Should your property face a public highway and you would consider allowing the placement of a flag on your property, contact us using our website: <https://www.scvtexas.org>

National News - Are Southerners Still Welcome in US Military?

The Sons of Confederate Veterans oppose the recently recommended actions by the Naming Commission in conjunction with the Department of Defense. Their actions to strip the names of Confederate officers and heroes from our military assets will raise serious doubts as to whether young Southerners are welcome in today's military. A vocal and ambivalent minority has embarked on a vicious attack against American history. They have fought long and hard, have lobbied those in power, and have championed the cause to change the names of military bases, naval vessels, and historic flags. In other words, all things connected with Southern valor displayed on the field of battle during the War Between the States are to be purged. This action is a rejection of the same vigor that inspired many Southerners to join the military and heroically defended the United States, many in her time of need, and in communion with the valor displayed by their Confederate ancestors.

This was true when the blitzkrieg raged, and the relentless attacks in the Pacific continued as World War II found the entirety of humanity engulfed in the flames of war. It is meaningful that the highest-ranking general officer to be killed in action was General Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., the son of Confederate General Simon Bolivar Buckner, Sr. Moreover, the highest-ranking naval officer in the Pacific Theater during that great conflagration was Admiral Chester Nimitz, the grandson of Confederate Captain Charles Henry Nimitz, while the Commander-in-Chief at the end of WWII, President Harry S. Truman, was the grandson of a Confederate Veteran, who was also the President responsible for desegregating the U.S. Armed Forces in 1948. In every war after the War Between the States, Southerners volunteered in large numbers to patriotically support our nation and to display her might abroad.

Despite the cadre of Confederate descendants, the Naming Commission cannot help but continually berate and even attack Confederate Veterans. As a result, fathers and grandfathers of the South now question if their children are welcome in an environment that displays such animosity toward our shared heritage. Even more capricious is the desire to destroy the Reconciliation Memorial sculpted by Sgt. Jacob Moses Ezekiel (Battalion of Cadets VMI) in Arlington National Cemetery which was meant to reunite a fractured nation after its victory in the Spanish-American War. Evidently, it appears that the official policy is to discriminate against Southern heritage and the esprit décor that transcends from Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson, and Nathan Bedford Forrest to their descendants today. The Sons of Confederate Veterans oppose rewriting America's history. We understand that it is not only Southern history being attacked, but all traditional American values including our Founding Fathers from Washington to Jefferson, and even Benjamin Franklin.

CHARGE TO THE SONS OF CONFEDERATE VETERANS

“To you, Sons of Confederate Veterans, we will commit the vindication of the cause for which we fought. To your strength will be given the defense of the Confederate soldier's good name, the guardianship of his history, the emulation of his virtues, the perpetuation of those principles which he loved and which you love also, and those ideals which made him glorious and which you also cherish.”

Lt. General Stephen Dill Lee Commander-General United Confederate Veterans New Orleans, Louisiana 1906

Remember, it is our duty to see that the true history of the South is preserved and presented to future generations.

Until we meet again, let us remember our obligations to our forefathers, who gave us the undeniable birthright of our Southern Heritage and the vision, desire and courage to see it perpetuated.
