Commanders Report

Greetings Compatriots,

I hope that everyone is hunkered down inside in the AC for another summer in Hell (Occupied Texas). Right now, there are no events occurring in Texas. The Mayor of Houston shut down the Republican Convention that was supposed to happen there this week. I have also heard that the Scottish Festival in Decatur that was rescheduled till the fall has been canceled, as well as Grapefest and even the State Fair of Texas. However, The National Reunion is taking place in Florida this week, thanks go out to Kyle Sims and Jim Anderson who will be attending and representing the Gano Camp at the reunion this year. I also want to remind those that have not renewed that our Annual Dues are due before August 31st.

I am sorry to report that this month's camp meeting has been cancelled due to the Governor Abbotts Executive Order to scale back restaurant occupancy and group sizes that if not extended will expire on July 21st. That being said, I hope to see everyone at Chill on the August 18th as we will be presenting the Division and national awards.

Deo Vindice
Confederately yours,
Commander Craig (Hoss) Stone
Lt Commander Texas Division

Last Months Meeting

It was so good to get to meet again at Chill although we could not have our regular private room in the back. We had quite a few in attendance and Lt. Commander Craig gave us a update on Texas Heritage Defense.

SCV/OCR Meeting Minutes 06/16/20

Meeting started at 7:17pm

Craig started the Texas pledge and the salute to the Confederate flag

Jack prayed us in at 7:19pm

Talked about Eileen with her having a stroke

Texas at war and talked about each county and what is going on in each of them

Each camp commander to work with city officials

More petitions started by us as the SCV

Contact the people at the Whitehouse with the individuals Craig has on the list

What are the plans for the statues?

A lot of events have been canceled (Belo camp, Scottish festival)

August 15th hosting Texas constitutional convention

Approval from parks department for trail clean up

Grapefest is still on the books as of now

New member Ben Stirling

Jack prayed us out at 8:17pm

We all sang Dixie

Chaplin's Corner - Excerpts from the Book of Ecclesiastes

On the tomb of Sir Christopher Wren in St. Paul's Cathedral in London, which he designed, are these words, "If you would see his monument, look around you." An architect friend of mine from A&M told me that when we design buildings, we want them to be safe, functional, and beautiful. Designing and building things is just one of the ways they can leave behind a legacy of what they have achieved when they are no longer living. Many of history's greatest architects are remembered for a few centuries primarily for the structures they designed and built. But as time passes, we forget their names. Who designed the Great Pyramids of Egypt, The Parthenon in Greece, the Coliseum in Rome, Notre Dame in Paris, the Eiffel Tower, the Statue of Liberty, Mount Rushmore, and Stone Mountain (Guston Borglum designed and built both)? Buildings, bridges, monuments, and stadiums do not last forever. With the passing of time they eventually fall into a state of disrepair due to natural forces, fire, vandalism and must be demolished, repaired, and/or replaced. The monuments that are enduring are not built with mortar and stone. Rather, they are built with Christ-like deeds of love and kindness which must be erected in human hearts. The ravages of time crumble into dust and the metal dissolves from rust these monuments of stone, iron, brick, and wood. Deeds that are motivated by the constraining love of Christ for individuals or for all mankind – will endure. To illustrate how this is true, I challenge you to spend a few moments in reflection to participate in an especially important mental exercise: 1. Name the five wealthiest people in the world. 2. Name the last five Heisman trophy winners. 3. Name ten people who have won the Nobel and the Pulitzer Prize. 4. Name the last half dozen Academy Award winners for best actor and actress. 5. Name the last decade's worth of winners in the World Series. 6. Name the most valuable player in the last five NCAA men's basketball championships. Perhaps you can name some of these, but it would likely be only a few. We do not remember awfully long who the headliners of yesterday were. On this list there are no second-rate achievers. They are the best in their respective fields. But the applause dies. Awards tarnish with the passing of time. Achievements are forgotten. Accolades and certificates are buried with their owners. They become yesterday's news. Now let us continue with our mental exercise: 1. List the names of a few teachers who aided your journey through school. 2. Name three friends who stood by your side during a difficult time. 3. Name five people who have touched your life in a special way. 4. Name five people who have qualities you greatly admire. 5. Name five people who have made you feel appreciated and special. 6. Name five people, not including the members of your family, with whom you enjoy spending time. The second list was easier than the first, wasn't it? This is true because the people who make a difference in our lives are not the ones with the most credentials...or have the most money...or have the most college or graduate school degrees...or were given the most awards. Rather, they are the persons who care the most, the ones who value others and seek to serve them. If you have followed the instructions in the mental exercise suggested above, you have reinforced for you and important truth: Things in our world that are often regarded as the most important are not, after all, all that important. Having recognized those who have touched our lives in special ways demands that we give serious thought to the persons we know who need our care. How well do we know each member of the R.M. Gano Camp? I mean really know them. Our meetings, reunions and get togethers are few and far between these days, but that should not stop us from picking up the phone and just checking on each other. Remember that each one of us shares a commonality, of having our ancestors fighting for the Confederacy in the War Between the States. And with that said each one of us has a story to tell and share with each other. It should be our goal to live our lives in such a way that those we will one day leave behind remember and appreciate what we have done to enrich their lives. If we accomplish that, we will not have lived in vain. Ecclesiastes1-12

A Update From The Virginia Flaggers - BOYCOTT RICHMOND!

The destruction of the “Grandest Avenue in the South” has begun. Just moments after Richmond Mayor Lamar Stoney announced that he had ordered every Confederate monument removed, a giant crane arrived and began the task of removing the magnificent Stonewall Jackson statue from the massive monument on which is sat for just a few months shy of 100 years.

The scene was absolute chaos, with crowds of onlookers cheering and jeering as the work took place. ONE YOUNG MAN, a Richmond resident, dared to make his way into the crowd and speak out. Watch how he was savagely attacked and led out like a criminal...

<https://www.facebook.com/CBS6News/videos/3019403434840430>

His flag was stolen and burned at the monument shortly after he was removed. We have reached out to him and he is OK and another flag is on the way to him.

We now endorse a full and complete boycott of the once beautiful city. God help those left behind in the burnt out remains. We encourage all decent folks to stay out of the city limits. City leaders have let godless radicals have complete control and it is no longer safe for anyone to visit for any reason.

Apparently, Mayor Stoney could not find anyone locally to help him. These are the folks he hired to do his dirty work...

On 01 JUL 1776 Continental Congress delegate John Dickinson said: "we ought to brave the storm in a skiff made of paper."

Today we have done just that. All our labor, hope & dreams have been poured into a Writ of Certiorari to the Supreme Court of the United States, asking that the Court recognize heritage groups as having standing to sue to defend threatened monuments AND that the class of persons with standing be broadened to allow someone to be able to fight to protect monuments in court. Our client and Appellant, Steve Littlefield, representing the remaining family of University of Texas benefactor, Major George Washington Littlefield, recently died and we reached out to his family to act to keep his claim alive. This they refused to do, despite a personal appeal from Chief Trial Counsel Lyons.

No matter - we point out to the Court that standing should be broadened so that a claim is not extinguished when a claimant dies and his remaining family refuses to take up his cause.

The dragon we have to slay is the so-called "government speech" doctrine imposed by the Court in 2015 - but to contest we must first the Court must rule that we have standing, we must be allowed in the court, with the right to argue against "government speech" on behalf of the Heritage community! If not them, then who?

The Heritage community sees this as a critically important national issue needing redress - hopefully the Court will agree. If the Court grants our Writ - the battle is on! We must enlist the country behind us as we seek to persuade the Supremes on the justness of our cause.

We need you in the Heritage community to share this newsletter as well as your own letters & commentary with your friends, families, elected officials and your local media!

 "DEFENDING THEIR HONOR SINCE 1896"
 www.scv.org ★ 1-800-MySouth

What is the Sons of Confederate Veterans?
 The citizen-soldiers who fought for the Confederacy personified the best qualities of America. The preservation of liberty and freedom was the motivating factor in the South's decision to fight the Second American Revolution. The tenacity with which Confederate soldiers fought underscored their belief in the rights guaranteed by the Constitution. These attributes are the underpinning of our democratic society and represent the foundation on which this nation was built.

Today, the Sons of Confederate Veterans is preserving the history and legacy of these heroes, so future generations can understand the motives that animated the Southern Cause.

The SCV is the direct heir of the United Confederate Veterans, and the oldest hereditary organization for male descendants of Confederate soldiers. Organized at Richmond, Virginia in 1896, the SCV continues to serve as a historical, patriotic, and non-political organization dedicated to ensuring that a true history of the 1861-1865 period is preserved.

“To you, Sons of Confederate Veterans, we will commit the vindication of the cause for which we fought. To your strength will be given the defense of the Confederate soldier's good name, the guardianship of his history, the emulation of his virtues, the perpetuation of those principles which he loved and which you love also, and those ideals which made him glorious and which you also cherish.”

Lt. General Stephen Dill Lee Commander-General United Confederate Veterans New Orleans, Louisiana 1906

Remember, it is our duty to see that the true history of the South is preserved and presented to future generations.

Until we meet again, let us remember our obligations to our forefathers, who gave us the undeniable birthright of our Southern Heritage and the vision, desire and courage to see it perpetuated.
