Commanders Report

Greetings Fellow Compatriots,

Fellow Compatriots, I am pleased to announce that our guest speaker this month will be Mark Vogl. Mark will be presenting a presentation on the Red River Campaign. If you have not heard him before this is a good opportunity to get to know a true Confederate.

I am looking forward to our Texas Division Convention in Waco at the end of this month. The Division will be electing new officers and voting on the proposed amendments to the Division Constitution. I know that the Waco Camp has made a tremendous effort to make this year's Convention memorable. I'm looking forward to attending and getting my batteries recharged. Our National Convention is in June and unfortunately, I will not be able to attend. I will be looking for a report at the June camp meeting from those attending both Conventions.

Reflections

"Dad, what is the hardest thing about writing?"

"The first word." He replied, as he sat facing his IBM Selectric typewriter staring at a blank page, and then his fingers began the rhythmic clack, clack, clack and the words another speech began to appear as the platen began rolling upward. On occasion, I attended political rallies and I listened to his words delivered by candidates for political office produce laughter, and cheers from crowds gathered.

Please forgive me for some "Woolgathering" and departing from the style of most of my Chaplain's Corner messages, but I'm really hurting inside. As a youth, I spent a great deal of time in Austin while Dad was doing "campaign stuff"; therefore, I was left alone to explore the Capitol, inside and outside. I loved the monuments! Each monument, to my eyes, was grand in appearance, grand in size and oh so beautifully done. Thinking that whatever each monument represents must have been created to memorialize a great deed or sacrifice. I thought that MY MONUMENTS would always be there. Well, I was wrong.

I make no excuses for my Southern Heritage. I don't consider myself a racist, white supremacist, white nationalist, or bigot. I'm also a follower of Jesus Christ and this runs through my Southern Heritage going all the way back to Ireland. There were four great, great uncles that fought for the South in the War for Southern Independence (from the great State of Mississippi), were planters and slave owners to help with the family farm. There are no pictures of them, that I can find, and the only monument to them are those monuments that exemplify the sacrifice of all Southern Confederate soldiers.

I've come to believe that to some people Confederate Monuments, the Alamo Cenotaph, San Jacinto Battlefield, the Battleship Texas are just "things" to look at as we walk by. But, as I have found, in each monument there lies beneath its bronze, and granite a story that each one would agree honor, sacrifice, duty, loyalty, fraternity, and giving of yourself to serve at the cost of your own life.

We, as Sons of Confederate Veterans, Order of Confederate Rose, and UDC, may be the only ones left to perpetuate the cause and tell the truth about the Cause for Southern Independence. As Texas becomes a State of people from different cultures and countries can we expect them to focus and become interested in the truth about the War for Southern Independence? Who will teach our children? Can we expect the school children of today being taught by a new generation of teachers coming from universities that propose courses in Critical Race Theory to give a truthful examination of the War for Southern Independence?

We, as Sons of Confederate Veterans, are a small band of Compatriots that have not given up the struggle. We have always been outnumbered since 1861, the voices against us are loud, noisy, vulgar and destructive. We must not let hate or uncontrolled anger overtake our actions, thoughts, and words remembering that our Lord gives us victories according to His perfect will and answers our prayers according to His time and plan.

*The steps of a man are established by the Lord,
When he delights in his way; though he fall,
He shall not be cast headlong, for the Lord upholds his hand.
Psalm 37:23-24*

State News - TITFF & TEXAS DIVISION SCV

This Is Texas Freedom Force, the SCV and the UDC filled the halls of the Capitol on Monday April 19, 2021 to #ProtectTexasHistory.

You can't win a fight if you aren't present on the battlefield. There are a million and 1 excuses on why you can't show up.

Every person there made a sacrifice to be here, some rescheduled doctor's appointment, others have medical issues they are fighting with, some had to borrow money to be there, but every person there understood that our Texas History is worth it, therefore they were present on the day of battle.

Did you take a few minutes to call, email, or text your elected officials and tell them that you support saving Texas History.

It is not too late...

The Va Flaggers and the 10th Platoon, 2nd Btn, Co A Va SCV MC raised and dedicated the Rockbridge County Soldiers Roadside Memorial Battle Flag at Goshen last month, in a private ceremony on private property. Many thanks to all who helped make it happen, and all of those who gave of their time and talents to make the ceremony so meaningful and special.

This is the 34th Roadside Memorial Battle Flag raised by the Va Flaggers since the fall of 2013 and the second raised this year, thanks to the generous support of thousands of citizens, many of whom are fed up with the relentless and vicious attacks on our history, heritage, and the men who fought to defend the South.

Below is a suggested Letter to the Editor of a Texas newspaper ready for your signature and submittal on our Texas Supreme Court monument cases. If you have talk radio in your town - talk monument protection up or let the SLRC staff know who to call and we will speak on it.

This is our last, best chance for meaningful protection of ALL historic monuments in Texas. Let's do our best!

TEXAS MONUMENT PROTECTION NOT "CANCEL CULTURE!"

EDITOR:

The Supreme Court has a wonderful opportunity to reject "Cancel Culture" and make the out-of-control City of Dallas obey State Law and their own ordinances and published procedures. Dallas historic monument defenders have recently filed appeals to the Texas Supreme Court in 2 cases involving the Pioneer Cemetery War Memorial in Dallas's Pioneer Cemetery : Return Lee to Lee Park, Inc v Dallas & Carter et al v. Dallas. The cases were original dismissed by Dallas County District Judge Eric Moye - arguably the most radical leftist judge in the State of Texas. A pro-monument decision by the Texas Supreme Court Justices will "smack" high-handed left-of-center politicians from breaking the law to get rid of the PEOPLE's public art AND extend protection to endangered historic monuments across the State of Texas, including the Alamo Cenotaph in San Antonio. Do we want our Texas cities to resemble the futuristic urban landscape of a Terminator movie? That's where we are headed if the Highest Court in Texas fails We the People."

Excerpts from Gen. Stephen Dill Lee's Address at New Orleans

Comrades, there is one thing committed to our care as a peculiar trust—the memory of the Confederate soldier. So far as lies in our power, we have striven that history may not lack the evidence of his purity of motive, his fortitude, his heroism. I, for one, do not fear that justice, however long delayed, will not ultimately be done to one of the grandest bodies of men who ever battled for independence or, triumphing over defeat, bound up the bleeding wounds of their country.

There are three things peculiar left for our concern. One of these is the erection of public monuments to our Confederate dead; not only to our leaders, but, above all, to those private soldiers who made our leaders immortal. We must not over task posterity by expecting those who come after us to build monuments to heroes who their own generation were unwilling to commemorate. The South has reached a position of material prosperity which justifies both State and private beneficence to honor the faithful dead.

In all human lot there has nothing better been found for man than to die for his country. If there be any virtue, if there be any praise, this fate is to be preferred above all others. We feel it is well with those who have thus fulfilled the highest of all trusts, the duty of a citizen of his native land, and whatever may have been their private faults, their public service on the field of battle has rightly given them a place with immortals. Theirs was the Martyr's devotion without the martyr's hope. Their generation and their country imposed upon them this high service. They fulfilled it without flinching. They felt that the issue of the battle was with God, the issue of their duty was with themselves...

I urge monuments to the Confederate soldier first for the sake of the dead, but most for the sake of the living, that in this busy industrial age these stones to the Confederate soldier may stand like great interrogation marks to the soul to each beholder.

Let us pass the remainder of our days in such wise that nothing we shall do will bring shame and regret that we also were Confederate soldiers. As we share with them the glory of their sufferings, the fame of their victories, the tragedy of their overthrow, and that sympathy of their countrymen which covered the defeated as with a mantle of imperishable love, let us also share as best we may their simplicity of heart, their scorn of all ignoble actions, their dignity of soul that our descendants may say of us with swelling hearts. "He also followed Johnston; he also fought with Lee." To this day, there stands carved upon the graves of our English ancestors the symbol of the Crusaders. Their names are forgotten, but the cross remains. So, let it be with the Confederate soldier!

And is there any message we would give to the States we loved and on whose behalf we drew our swords more than a generation ago? As we have sorrowed your devotions, we now rejoice in your prosperity. We chose for you the fortune of war rather than a shameful peace, we battled for your principles rather than yield them, not to conviction but to force. With breaking hearts, we bowed beneath the stroke of fate. We chose the only course worthy of Americans. Better defeat than dishonor; better the long bitter story of reconstruction than surrender of the convictions we received from our fathers, the principles which we cherished as the basis of our liberties. We leave our motives to the judgement of posterity. In the choice we made we followed the dictates of conscience and the voice of honor. We sacrificed all that men hold dear for the land of our birth, and while we have no fear that history will record our deeds with shame, we do not regard even the verdict of posterity as the equivalent of a clear conscience; nor ought we to have been false to our convictions even to win the eternal praises of mankind. If our children shall praise us, it is well; if our hearts tell us we have fulfilled our duty, it is better.

To you, Sons of Confederate Veterans, we commit the vindication of the cause for which we fought. To your strength will be given the defense of the Confederate soldiers good name, the guardianship of his history, the emulation of his virtues, the perpetuation of those principles which he loved, and which you love also, and those ideals which made him glorious and which you also cherish. Are you also ready to die for your country? Is your life worthy to be remembered along with theirs? Do you choose for yourself this greatness of soul?

*“Not in the clamor or the crowded street,
Not in the shouts and plaudits of the throng,
But in ourselves are triumph and defeat.”*

To you Daughter of the Confederacy, will be given the loving service of remembering the Confederate dead and of ministering to the living who were dear to him and are in need of your help and tenderness. Worthy daughters you shall be of the immortal women, your mothers, who gave to womanhood a new perfection of heroism and a more divine expression of sacrifice and devotion.

To you, brave people of the South; to you, true-hearted Americans everywhere; to you, world conquering race from which we sprung—to all men everywhere who prize in man the manliest deeds, who love in man the love of country, who praise fidelity and courage, who honor self-sacrifice and noble devotion, will be given an incomparable inheritance, the memory of our prince of men, the Confederate soldier. God bless you!

What is the Sons of Confederate Veterans?

The citizen-soldiers who fought for the Confederacy personified the best qualities of America. The preservation of liberty and freedom was the motivating factor in the South's decision to fight the Second American Revolution. The tenacity with which Confederate soldiers fought underscored their belief in the rights guaranteed by the Constitution. These attributes are the underpinning of our democratic society and represent the foundation on which this nation was built.

Today, the Sons of Confederate Veterans is preserving the history and legacy of these heroes, so future generations can understand the motives that animated the Southern Cause.

The SCV is the direct heir of the United Confederate Veterans, and the oldest hereditary organization for male descendants of Confederate soldiers. Organized at Richmond, Virginia in 1896, the SCV continues to serve as a historical, patriotic, and non-political organization dedicated to ensuring that a true history of the 1861-1865 period is preserved.

CHARGE TO THE SONS OF CONFEDERATE VETERANS

“To you, Sons of Confederate Veterans, we will commit the vindication of the cause for which we fought. To your strength will be given the defense of the Confederate soldier's good name, the guardianship of his history, the emulation of his virtues, the perpetuation of those principles which he loved and which you love also, and those ideals which made him glorious and which you also cherish.”

Lt. General Stephen Dill Lee Commander-General United Confederate Veterans New Orleans, Louisiana 1906

Remember, it is our duty to see that the true history of the South is preserved and presented to future generations.

Until we meet again, let us remember our obligations to our forefathers, who gave us the undeniable birthright of our Southern Heritage and the vision, desire and courage to see it perpetuated.
