Commanders Report

Greetings Compatriots;

I hope that everyone is enjoying another fall in north Texas. It's time to get ramped up for all the events that occur this time of year. The R. E. Lee Camp #239 is having a picnic on September 28th, (contact Festus Allcock for information). In the coming weeks we will be having planning meeting for both the Christmas party on December 7th as well as the Texas Division Reunion next June.

This month we have Frank Bussey as our speaker and before the meeting Frank, Becky, and I will be touring the Embassy Suites Hotel. If anyone has any questions about the hotel please ask me before the tour. I hope to see everyone at Bone Daddy's this Tuesday.

Confederately yours,
Commander Craig (Hoss) Stone
Lt Commander Texas Division

We would like to remind everyone that this is the 2nd Anniversary of when the Robert E. Lee monument was removed in Dallas Lee Park.

2nd Lt Commanders Report

Dear Members and Friends:

I would like to thank J. Pat Baughman for travelling once again a great distance to do our program last month. Even though we didn't have a screen from him we were able to continue without one.

This month we are going to have 7th Brigade Commander Frank Bussey do a program for us. He will be doing a power point and always does a good job.

When the weather starts cooling down this Fall, we will be seeing more activities going on in the area. The Gano camp will once again be hosting the Brigade Christmas Party at Saljo's. We are thinking of having it during the day on Dec. 7th this year to see if that works better for some of our compatriots who travel a great distance to join us.

We still haven't decided a date on the Training Seminar as there is so much conflicting dates with activities during the Fall and early Winter months. However, once we determine the date, we will certainly let you know.

I would like to thank Allen Hearrean for assisting in the Adjutant Training for the 4th Brigade training seminar held in Gainesville, Tx. this past month. We are so lucky to have him not only as a camp adjutant but also our Division adjutant. He is doing a great job in getting our Division straightened out and developing procedures to help us for the future.

Remember we will have the Grapevine Veterans Day parade coming up in November. We will again mention in next months newsletter.

Respectfully,

Kyle Sims

1st Lt Commander

Chaplains Corner

“ They do not fear bad news; they confidently trust t he Lord to care for them. They are confident and f earless and can face their foes triumph hantly. ” Psalm 112:7-8 NLT

Every person’s life is a tapestry of events: some wonderful, some not-so-wonderful, and some are downright disastrous. Even our Lord, Jesus Christ, faced betrayal, mockery, loneliness, hatred, rejection from those around him and ultimately rejection from His Heavenly Father at the cross. When we visit the mountaintops of life, praising God isn’t hard-in fact, it’s easy. In our moments of triumph, we can bow our heads and thank God for our victories. But when we fail to reach the mountaintops, when we endure the inevitable losses, and sorrow that are a part of every person’s life, we find it much tougher to praise God. Yet whenever we find ourselves, whether on the mountaintops of life or in life’s darkest valleys, we are called to still offer thanks to God, giving thanks in all circumstances. Dr. Jordan Peterson states that sorrow is a part of each person’s life, and that sorrow (whatever it may be) and where it leads us can either destroy us or lead us to take steps that lift us upward and make us a better individual. So, the next time we find ourselves worried about the challenges of today or the uncertainties of tomorrow, we need to ask ourselves this question: Are we really ready to place our concerns and our life in God’s all-powerful, all-knowing, all-loving hands? If the answer to that question is yes, then we can draw courage today from the source of strength that never fails: our Father in heaven. God is not a distant being. He is not absent from our world, nor is he absent from your world. God is not “out there”; He is “right here,” continuously reshaping His universe, and continuously reshaping the lives of those who dwell in it. God is with us always, and always willing to listen to our thoughts and prayers, watching over our every move. If the demands of everyday life are weighing down upon us, then our natural impulse is to ignore God’s presence or-worse yet-to lose faith in His promises. But when we quiet ourselves and acknowledge His presence, when we praise Him in all times and circumstances, God and His Holy Spirit will touch our hearts and restore our courage. Jon Calvin wrote this: “ Seeing that a Pilot steers the ship in which we sail, who will never allow us to perish even in the midst of shipwrecks, there is no reason why our minds should be overwhelmed with fear and overcome with wea riness. ”

Camp 2292 News

Our camp has another chance to set a Confederate veterans stone in Mansfield. I was contacted by a SCV member by the name of Jim Fisher in Topeka KS who is quite elderly. His camp had a stone made for a Sgt. Justice. A living descendant of Mr. Justice lives in North Carolina. He is the one who signed the original application. Mr. Justice enlisted at age 21 on Sept. 11, 1861. He was in Company B, 35th NC Infantry regiment. He was promoted to Sgt before June 11, 1964. He was taken POW at the Battle of Globe Tavern, Virginia on August 21, 1864. Paroled and exchanged at an unknown date and was in the hospital at Richmond, VA on March 2, 1865. Festus Allcock said he would help me but would be nice to have one more since this is a large VA stone. The stone has already been shipped to Mansfield near the Mansfield City Cemetery where it needs to be installed in a 18" hole. If you have any questions or would like to help then contact me.

A Update from the Virginia Flaggers

VICTORY in Hartsville, SC! After a brief absence, a lengthy court battle, and a lot of hard work, the Hartsville Hwy 151 Roadside Memorial Battle Flag is back up and flying!!

The haters celebrated when it came down, underestimating the resolve and determination of our people. Special thanks to Kam Harrell and the folks at Sky High Poles for their hard work in getting it back up, and our friends at Save Southern Heritage in SC for fighting and funding the legal battle and their steadfast support.

God bless all who continue to fight, and God Save the South!
All glory to God. All honor to the Confederate soldier. #winning

Another Update from the Virginia Flaggers

On Monday, August 19, The Chatham, NC County Board of Commissioners voted 4-1 to force the removal of the Confederate monument which has stood at the historic courthouse in Pittsboro since the UDC erected in 1907 as a memorial to the county's Confederate dead. The vote was 4-1 to attempt to remove it, in violation of state law, and against the wishes of the majority of citizens of the county and the hundreds who attended the meeting and spoke in opposition.

Almost immediately, local citizens, outraged at the blatant disregard for their wishes and the attempt to desecrate their war memorial, reached out to Confederate heritage organizations and offered land to erect Confederate battle flags in response to the decision.

Today, the Old North State Flaggers, ACTBAC NC, and the Va Flaggers came together to make the first one happen and respond directly to the commissioners' vote.

This afternoon, a 10' x15' Confederate Battle Flag was raised on a 50' pole adjacent to Hwy 64 Business just one block from the town of Pittsboro. This is the first of several flag sites planned, and comes just days before a planned prayer vigil and monument rally in downtown Pittsboro, Saturday, September 14th, 11:30 a.m. - 9:00 p.m. Pittsboro Historical Courthouse. Make plans to attend and let your voice be heard! Apparently, these folks did not pay attention to what happened in nearby Danville, Va when that city council made the mistake of removing one tiny 3x5 Confederate flag from a historical monument on the grounds of the Last Capitol of the Confederacy.

Apparently, these folks did not pay attention to what happened in nearby Danville, Va when that city council made the mistake of removing one tiny 3x5 Confederate flag from a historical monument on the grounds of the Last Capitol of the Confederacy. We have not yet begun to fight. All glory to God. All honor to the Confederate soldier.

Our Typical Confederate Soldier By G. H. Baskette, Nashville, Tenn.

From Confederate Veteran Magazine, Volume 1, 1893

Nearly thirty-three years have passed since the alarm of war called from their peaceful pursuits the citizens who were to make name and fame as Confederate soldiers. The stirring scenes and the dreadful carnage of a memorable conflict have been removed by the lapse of time into the hazy past, and a new generation, however ready it may be to honor those who fought the battles of the South, is likely to form its idea of their appearance from the conventional military type. The Confederate soldier was not an ordinary soldier, either in appearance or character. With your permission I will undertake to draw a portrait of him as he really appeared in the hard service of privation and danger. A face browned by exposure and heavily bearded, or for some weeks unshaven, begrimed with dust and sweat, and marked here and there with the darker stains of powder—a face whose stolid and even melancholy composure is easily broken into ripples of good humor or quickly flushed in the fervor and abandon of the charge; a frame tough and sinewy, and trained by hardship to surprising powers of endurance; a form, the shapeliness of which is hidden by its encumberments, suggesting in its careless and unaffected pose a languorous indisposition to exertion, yet a latent; lion-like strength and a terrible energy of action when aroused. Around the upper part of the face is a fringe of unkempt hair, and above this an old wool hat, worn and weather-beaten, the flaccid brim of which falls limp upon the shoulders behind, and is folded back in front against the elongated and crumpled crown. Over a soiled shirt, which is unbuttoned, and buttonless at the collar, is a ragged gray jacket that does not reach to the hips, with sleeves some inches too short. Below the trousers of a non-descript color, without form and almost void, are held in place by a leather belt, to which is attached the cartridge box that rests behind the right hip, and the bayonet scabbard which dangles on the left. Just above the ankles each trouser leg is tied closely to the limb—a la Zouave—and beneath reaches of dirty socks disappear in a pair of badly used and curiously contorted shoes. Between the jacket and the waistband and the waistband of the trousers, or the supporting belt, there appears a puffy display of cotton shirt which works out further with every hitch made by Johnny in his effort to keep his pantaloons in place. Across his body from his left shoulder there is a roll of threadbare blanket, the ends tied together resting on or falling below the right hip. This blanket is Johnny's bed. Whenever he arises, he takes up his bed and walks. Within this roll is a shirt, his only extra article of clothing. In action the blanket roll is thrown further back, and the cartridge box is drawn forward, frequently in front of the body. From the right shoulder, across the body, pass two straps, one cloth the other leather, making a cross with blanket roll on breast and back. These straps support respectively a greasy cloth haversack and a flannel-covered canteen, captured from the yankees. Attached to the haversack strap is a tin cup, while in addition to some other odds and ends of camp trumpery, there hangs over his back a frying pan, an invaluable utensil with which the soldier would be loath to part. With his trusty gun in hand—an Enfield rifle, also captured from the enemy and substituted for the old flintlock musket or the shotgun with which he was originally armed—Johnny Reb, thus imperfectly sketched, stands in his shreds and patches a marvelous ensemble—picturesque, grotesque, unique—the model citizen soldier, the military hero of the nineteenth century. There is none of the tinsel or the trappings of the professional about him. From an esthetic military point of view, he must appear a sorry looking soldier. But Johnny is not one of your dress parade soldiers. He doesn't care a copper whether anybody likes his looks or not. He is the most independent soldier that ever belonged to an organized army. He has respect for authority, and he cheerfully submits to discipline, because he sees the necessity of organization to affect the best results, but he maintains his individual autonomy, as it were, and never surrenders his sense of personal pride and responsibility. He is thoroughly tractable if properly officered, and is always ready to obey necessary orders, but he is quick to resent any official incivility, and is a high private who feels, and is, every inch as good as a General. He may appear ludicrous enough on a display occasion of the holiday pomp and splendor of war, but place him where duty calls, in the imminent deadly breach or the perilous charge, and none in all the armies of the earth can claim a higher claim a higher rank or prouder record. He may be outré and ill fashioned in dress, but he has sublimated his poverty and rags. The worn and faded gray jacket, glorified by valor and stained with the life blood of its wearer, becomes, in its immortality of association, a more splendid vestment than mail of medieval knight or the rarest robe of royalty. That old, weather-beaten slouched hat, seen as the ages will see it, with its halo of fire, through the smoke of battle, is a kinglier covering than a crown. Half clad, half armed, often half fed, without money and without price, the Confederate soldier fought against the resources of the world. When at last his flag was furled and his arms were grounded in defeat, the cause for which he had struggled was lost, but he had won the fadeless victory of soldiership.

Our Heritage By Ernest Powell

The fates of time swing wide today, And through them march our men in gray- Fathers, brothers, young and old- With loyal minds, with hearts of gold; And, through the mist of dreams and tears, Our heroes come across the years.

Again, the voice of Lee we hear, Again, his army's answering cheer; Again, a wall of stone we see, And Jackson stands by General Lee; And fearless leaders, score on score, Make up the South's immortal corps.

Another army passes by, Whose name and fame can never die- Our Southern women, dauntless, brave, Who gave their lives to cheer, to save; Our Southern women, tried and true, Who toiled and prayed the long years through.

Their sacrifice, their deeds of worth, Have made for us a purer earth; Their victories, unknown to fame, Have touched their children's hearts with flame; And all the South glorified Because for love they lived and died.

The fates of time wide open stand, And through them streams a deathless band- Southern women, Southern men. Who come to thrill our souls again; And through the mist of tears we pray: "God keep them all who loved the gray!"

What is the Sons of Confederate Veterans?

The citizen-soldiers who fought for the Confederacy personified the best qualities of America. The preservation of liberty and freedom was the motivating factor in the South's decision to fight the Second American Revolution. The tenacity with which Confederate soldiers fought underscored their belief in the rights guaranteed by the Constitution. These attributes are the underpinning of our democratic society and represent the foundation on which this nation was built.

Today, the Sons of Confederate Veterans is preserving the history and legacy of these heroes, so future generations can understand the motives that animated the Southern Cause.

The SCV is the direct heir of the United Confederate Veterans, and the oldest hereditary organization for male descendants of Confederate soldiers. Organized at Richmond, Virginia in 1896, the SCV continues to serve as a historical, patriotic, and non-political organization dedicated to ensuring that a true history of the 1861-1865 period is preserved.

CHARGE TO THE SONS OF CONFEDERATE VETERANS

"To you, Sons of Confederate Veterans, we will commit the vindication of the cause for which we fought. To your strength will be given the defense of the Confederate soldier's good name, the guardianship of his history, the emulation of his virtues, the perpetuation of those principles which he loved and which you love also, and those ideals which made him glorious and which you also cherish."

Lt. General Stephen Dill Lee Commander-General United Confederate Veterans New Orleans, Louisiana 1906

Remember, it is our duty to see that the true history of the South is preserved and presented to future generations.

Until we meet again, let us remember our obligations to our forefathers, who gave us the undeniable birthright of our Southern Heritage and the vision, desire and courage to see it perpetuated.
