John Hope Bryant, CEO of Operation Hope collaborated with Shopify to formulate the 1MBB (1 million Black Businesses) Initiative? The initiative's objective is to start, grow, and scale 1 million Black businesses by 2030 to provide a successful path to wealth creation for the black community.

According to findings from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, "Black entrepreneurs are nearly three times more likely than White entrepreneurs to have business growth and profitability negatively impacted by a lack of financial capital." However, since the inception of 1MBB in 2020, it is reported that there has been over 334,000 black-owned businesses established through this initiative, and the numbers continue to grow.
