

Mixed Signals

on conflicting feelings and complex emotions

Mixed Signals - a solo show of paintings by Laurie Shapiro.

"Mixed Signals" is a documentation of my inner world, and my deepest self. It is said that "we do not see the world as it is, we see the world as we are." As a person who has struggled with loneliness and depression, this series takes these (and other) feelings and turns them into a physical and relatable object. The emotions that pass through me can be intense and overwhelming, so I create out of a need to get through them. We can relate to each other through our feelings.

Furthermore, these are all paintings from a confusing and emotionally turbulent time in my life. Mixed signals - because it's hard to talk about what I feel. Things seem to be going so well, but there's days I can barely get out of bed. The good and the bad are mixed together, and I can't make sense of my situation - all I know is that I need to get through the storm. Creating is a form of alchemy, and through the expression of present time consciousness, this series has been a way to transform conflicting feelings and complex emotions into a medium for connection. We are all connected to each other through nature.
