

Erin Sherman, of The Nest Early Learning Program, brings over 20 years of experience and enthusiasm for learning to her role as an educator. Working with children and families, both in and out of the classroom, is her passion. Her love for homesteading and nature inspires her to create a magical learning environment where imaginations soar! She develops engaging learning experiences that nurture curiosity, exploration, and self expression. Erin has three children in which she homeschooled. She has also taught in both private and public schools for young children.
