

The real, true story of Brennan's piggybank.

EVERY PIGGYBANK HAS A STORY. THIS IS BRENNAN'S.

Beverly Brooks Thompson took on the challenge of a new job as Director of the Forever LSU campaign in 2006. A single mom working hard to raise her two boys, Beverly told her then 8 year old son Brennan her job was to help raise a billion dollars so kids who couldn't afford LSU could attend school.

The next day Brennan gave his mom his prized piggybank and the $83.47 he had saved because he wanted kids to be able to go to school – like he did at St. Aloysious. Brennan's piggybank sat on Beverly's desk for 8 years as a reminder of the promise Beverly and her team made with future LSU students.

Beverly and team Forever LSU raised $798 million while Bobby Jindal and legislators cut higher education in Louisiana by over $1 billion.

“The promise of an affordable education is real to Louisiana families. I will never break that promise as your State Senator.”

– BEVERLY BROOKS THOMPSON

Hard work, accountability and responsibility are the values Beverly lives by every day.

Beverly Brooks Thompson earned three degrees from LSU as a single mom raising two children.

Beverly Brooks Thompson has done the real, hard work on improving education and healthcare.

Beverly's determined work as the director of the Foundation at Woman's delivered free mammograms to women who could not afford medical services.

In the Senate, Beverly Brooks Thompson will be accountable and fiscally responsible with our tax dollars.

And, Brennan's piggybank will be right there on her Senate desk.
