

Tuesday 19th January 2021

Blog

Today I woke up really warm but I got up, got changed and jumped in my taxi ready for the day. I got to school at 8:55am and had to take 3 covid 19 test which gave me a nose bleed and the loud noise of Rachel shouting "pinch your nose, don't put your head back..".

I'm stuck with a bunch of masked crazyyyyy teachers and lunatics {Aida lockton} all by myself the only student strong enough to cope with these bunch.

I started my day with pe theory I was finishing off my laws and regulations in football but I think this will take longer than the two weeks Nathan had mentioned. Then after that it was break so me and jo walked to the shop to get aida's essentials {sugar} actually went for biscuits which was a treat from Jennifer. After I got back from the shop, I had a food lesson where I had to research a recipe and when I baked a lovely sponge cake which just disappeared in all the staff stomachs. After we ate lunch, we all went for a social distant walk to release stress and get some fresh air then when we got back, we watched a film to end the day. This is my daily blog

By cc