Step 1:

When assembling the coupler, position the magazine on the left higher than the magazine on the right. Magazines like PMAGS will fit into place on the notches of the coupler front plate. This offset will prevent you from possibly blocking the ejection port from spent casings.

Step 2:

Once the two halves have been set in place, start tightening the screws until the magazines are secured in place.

CAUTION: Overtightening the screws will damage the coupler and magazines.
